Agency nixes water study

Antioch officials irked
Waterway won't help fund survey of Lake Catherine

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Township officials are angered by the Fox Waterway Agency decision not to fund a water quality study for Lake Catherine.

Township officials feel betrayed by the agency. County Board Member Judy Martini and Carol Jonites, president of the United Homeowners Association of Antioch Township, are upset with agency directors for not pursuing the state grant.

'Dredging is only a short-term solution. We need to have an overall water quality management plan.'

—Judy Martini

Dr. William Dam, agency chairman, said the board has too many projects already and couldn't take on another one.

"I feel the Waterway Agency has let the residents down," Martini said. "This would have been the first step for a water quality program for all the lakes."

Martini, who also serves as vice-chairman of the advisory board, feels the board isn't helping out its constituents. She has lobbied for three years to get the water study.

"If they want residents to support them, they should support the residents," Martini said.

Dam said Martini is representing Antioch Township residents, but the agency must serve seven townships.

"The board has to do what is best for seven townships. If they can work with the See STUDY page A10

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch is getting a whole lot prettier with the continued work of the Antioch Beautification Committee.

Case in point is the many roses donated to the village through Antioch Floral. The committee planted 1,100 Royal roses at locations throughout the village.

Dave Hoeh joined the committee and with his connections, was able to get the roses donated.

"I knew a distributor in California who is one of the top ten distributors in the world," Hoeh said.

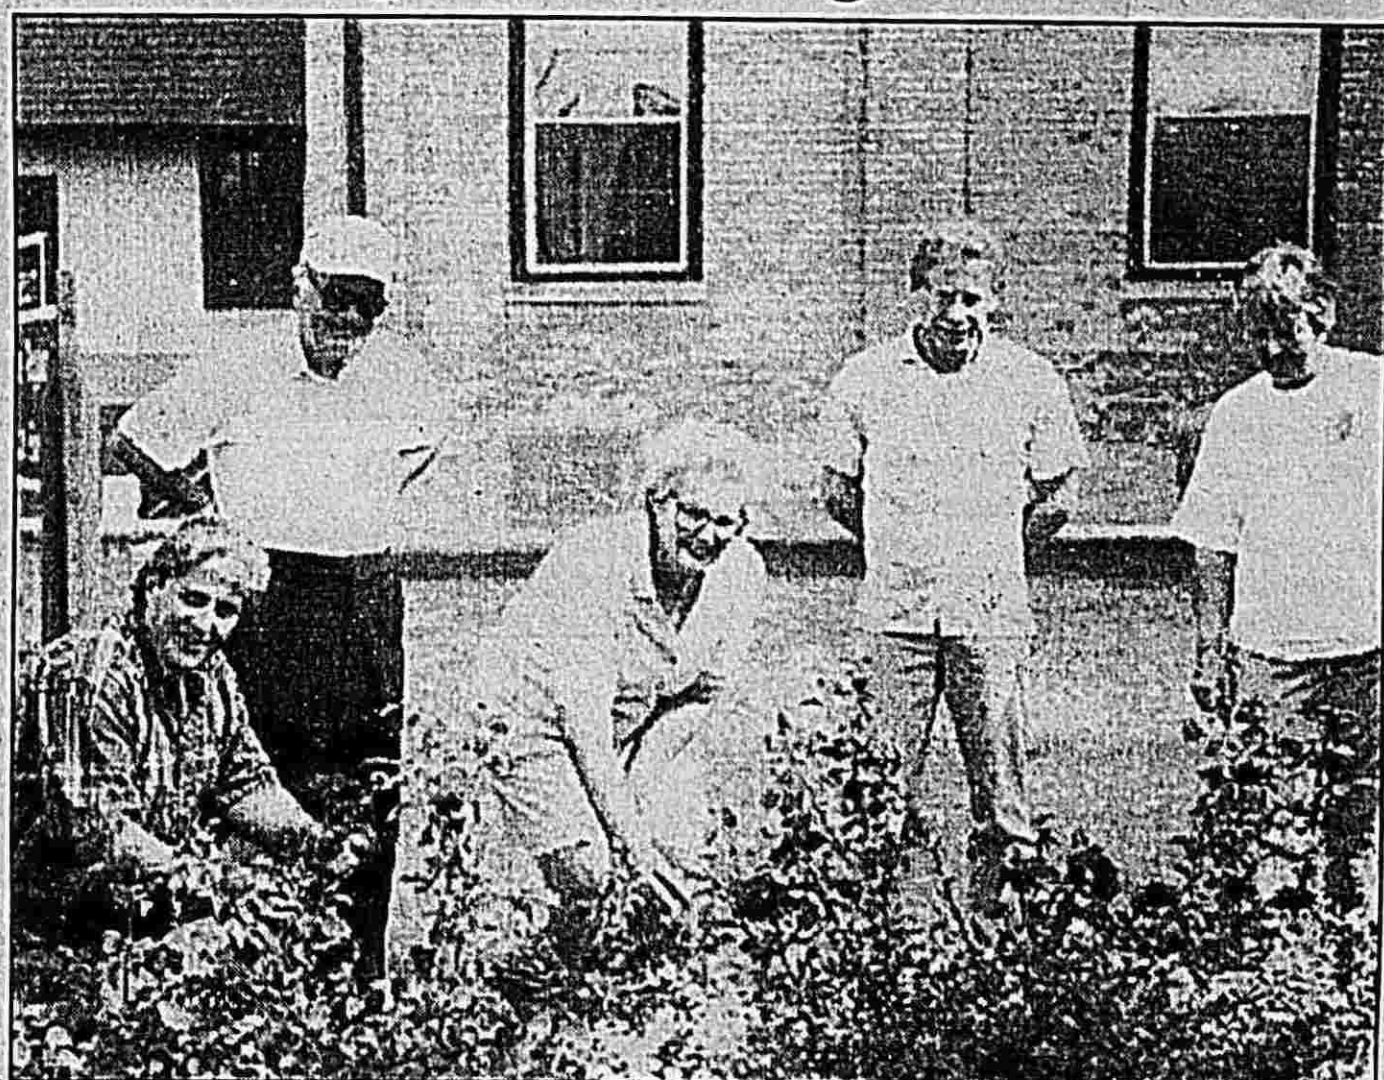

He added the flowers are the same ones you would typically buy at a floral shop.

Many of the grandiose blooms were planted at what was once the old town well at the Lakes Region Historical Society. The plants surround a wooden structure and provide a spectacular view for people driving or walking by.

"This will give Libertyville a run for their money," Hoeh said.

The beautification committee has several locations throughout the village with berms of flowers. One of them is at the intersection of Orchard and Main Streets where you can see a berm of moss roses.

"It's their love of this village that makes See ROSES page A10

Safety first

Trustees to review busy Rte. 59 intersection near Jewel, St. Peter

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees are becoming increasingly concerned for the safety of pedestrians crossing Rte. 59 near the Jewel and St. Peter's Church.

Trustee Ron Cunningham suggested the board look into traffic safety at Lake Street it as meets Rte. 59.

"I saw an old lady who was in the middle of the street," Cunningham said. "She couldn't cross because of the traffic and sat down to wait."

Trustee Dorothy Larson suggested encouraging residents to walk to existing crosswalks and then crossing the streets.

Cunningham mentioned an additional crosswalk might be the answer. He was concerned with people crossing on Sundays to go to church.

"It's worse during the week," stressed Tim Wells, village administrator.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug shunned the idea of an additional crosswalk at a location Cunningham proposed.

"I'm afraid people coming around the curve won't see the people crossing," she said.

While there haven't been a rash of injuries or accidents at that location, trustees want to explore the options for safety.

Wells said staff will review the intersection and report back to the board.

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch officials are seeking proposals from area businesses to open up a coffee shop inside the Metra station.

The board still has time to make the decision because the interior of the station isn't expected to be complete for another three weeks. Trustees decided it was a good idea to have an area businessperson instead of an outsider run a coffee concession.

"I would like to see it go to someone in the area," said Trustee Dorothy Larson.

"We should try to have the vendor be a local business," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

Village Attorney Kenneth Clark said trustees could limit the proposals to local businesses.

"They live in the area, they pay property taxes. You are not spending money on this," Clark said.

The next step is for the business owners to submit proposals to the village.

The station is located on Depot Street just east of Main Street.

Claude LeMere, community development director, said there were at least 10 area people interested in selling coffee at the station.

However, LeMere said the profits in the short-term are limited.

"We initially expect about 75-100 commuters a day. If they captured 30 percent of that they would be doing well," LeMere said.

Bob Silhan, building and zoning director, said a similar situation occurred when he was working at Arlington Heights. He mentioned the local provider went out of business. He was confident there wouldn't be parallel situation in Antioch.

"The person didn't have a lot of experience. That is not the case here," Silhan said.

Trustee Marvin Oldenburger took a different view. "If you sold 30 cups a day you could be doing quite well," he said.

Wells said a contract could be tied to the vendor's willingness to open the station in the morning and clean the bathroom facilities.

Dist. 34 budget adds teachers, funds repairs

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Elementary District's budget includes money for additional teachers and roof replacement at Upper Grade School.

The district's budget calls for $9,839,216 in expenses and has revenues of $9,726,181. The district has hired 3.7 staff positions and paid for roof replacement.

"We added 3.7 in certified staff at upper grade to complete the middle school concept," said Paul Hain, manager of business affairs.

Upper grade enrollment jumped from 572 last year to 631 this year, Hain noted. That increase also prompted the need for more teachers.

The district also paid $466,000 for the roof replacement. It used $276,000 in the building fund and borrowed $200,000 to finance the cost.

The loan will be repaid in two years through developer impact fees, according to Hain.

The district also spent $71,000 on providing more energy efficient light fixtures. Hain added the district expects to recoup the cost in three years through lower electric bills.

Without the roof replacement, the district actually was in the black.

Hain noted the district has fund balances or excess revenues in all school funds.

"We have worked very hard to live within our means," Hain said.

Much of the expenses are labor related. At least 80 percent of the budget goes to pay salaries and benefits for teachers, teacher assistants, bus drivers, and custodial staff.

The budget is available for inspection at the school office. The board is likely to adopt the budget at the board meeting on Sept. 17.

Antioch trustees want park donation pact

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees reaffirmed their position that the developer of an unincorporated subdivision must enter into a park donation agreement before the village gives its blessing to the plan.

The Golden Oaks is a proposed 25-unit subdivision on a 95-acre parcel on Rte. 45 just north of Rte. 173. Three weeks ago trustees agreed to support the project only if a park donation agreement was reached.

"They have to enter into a park donation agreement," stressed Village Attorney Kenneth Clark.

Clark sent a letter to the developer stating the village's intention. The developer is seeking zoning from the Lake County Board. However, since the village is within 1 1/2 miles of the site, it could force a 3/4 majority vote for passage if trustees gave the plan a negative review.

The village's comprehensive plan calls for one unit for 5 acres on this site. However, county zoning permits two homes per acre.

The property is near Deer Lake and Redwing Slough. Trustees have indicated they are supportive of the plan as long as a park donation agreement is reached.

The subdivision would use septic tanks and wells. There is no access to village or county infrastructure at this time.

Once the agreement is reached, the board can begin the approval process. If not, then the developer would have to get 3/4 approval from the County Board.

ACHS band and choir hone skills at camp

AMANDA MILLER
Staff Reporter

For the past 40 years, the marching band and choirs of Antioch High School have been attending a summer camp to improve their performance for the marching band season and the concert season.

The camps have been held at a variety of places including Antioch High School, Covenant Harbor in Lake Geneva, East Bay Camp in Bloomington and St. John's Military Academy in Delafield Wis.

ACHS students have been going to St. John's for 16 years and they really seem to enjoy it.

A typical day for the Marching Sequoits at camp begins with a 6 a.m. wake up call followed by 7 a.m. basics. For one hour the band learns and perfects the basic marching and maneuvering skills needed to perform the drill and receive high scores in competition.

"The band really comes together during basics. We saw a lot of enthusiasm this year with their yells," said basics instructor, Elaine Weber.

The band members undergoing this hour of basics sometimes feel differently.

"Basics are really tough but, it's going to pay off because we will improve," said Colleen McCandless, ACHS senior band member.

After a hard hour of basics, the band rushes into the cafeteria where breakfast awaits. The band next lathers on the sunscreen and takes the long walk down to the football field where they will spend the next three hours. During this time, the band sets and marches their drill for competition. The drill is the sequence of movements made by the band as a whole which follows that pattern along with the music. These movements usually involve shapes and each person within the band has their own spot within each shape. When the band is first learning a drill, each band member reads a chart to find out where they should be on the field during what point and when and where they should move next. The entire process is as difficult as it sounds.

Lunch is served promptly at noon and then the band members' favorite part of the day occurs, break time. During this two-hour period the Marching Sequoits are allowed to sleep, swim or just relax in the sun.

Then, promptly at 3 p.m., the band members are back on the field for another two hours until dinner. After dinner, they're back on the field again until it becomes too dark to march. Finally the band settles into the large St. John's gym for music practice until 11 p.m. During this time, the band practices their music as a full band and in sectionals by instrument with specialized clinicians.

All band members must be in their dorms by midnight to ensure a full day of progressive practice the next day.

This schedule might seem a little hard on the band members, but it takes this amount of time to pull a marching band together.

"We shortened the amount of days this year to try to cut down on the cost to get more kids to go to the camp... we were a little rushed, but it takes time to learn a drill," said John Olisar, director of the Marching Sequoits.

There are two main purposes of the camp for the Marching Sequoits. First, the band's main goal is to learn the entire show drill and perfect their music. After camp, there is only two months until the band will perform for competition and the groundwork must be done in August. Secondly, marching band camp never fails at bringing the band members closer together. Maybe it's all those hours in the hot sun trying to figure out drill charts. Maybe it's the free time spent together in the pool just having fun. Or, maybe it's the hard work put in by everyone, knowing that the band will succeed and win at the end of the season. For whatever reason, the Marching Sequoits come out of camp with new friends and many new experiences.

"This was my first year at camp and it was very enjoyable," stated junior Josh Harpke, member of the Marching Sequoits. "St. John's is a really nice place and it was great being with the band and having fun together."

Choir camp for the ACHS choirs takes place at the same place and the same time as the Marching Sequoits band camp.

"We have to get numbers learned for fall choir and madrigal performances... madrigals have some performances within the first month of school so, if they didn't learn their music at camp they will be unprepared," said Keith Cox, director of choirs at ACHS.

"This year there were less people at camp but, the counselors were great," said John Gauthier, junior Madrigal choir member.

The choir camp has counselors that help the members with their singing. The ACHS choir has a diverse group of advisers that are able to really help the choir members in many ways.

"All of our advisors have gone to a variety of different colleges so they're helpful in answering the kids questions about certain college programs," explained Cox.

The most noticeable difference in this year's camp is that it was a day shorter.

"The camp was a little hurried

The Marching Sequoits warm-up on the practice field for competition during band camp at St. John's Military Academy in Delafield, Wis. The band has spent a week each summer for the past 16 years at St. John's preparing for the marching season.— Photo by Victoria Miller since it was 4 days instead of 5... it was a lot more strenuous and vocally tiring," said Cox.

The choirs really enjoy this time to come together as a group.

"It's really fun and also fulfilling to know we worked hard to learn our music," stated Gauthier.

Overall, camp is always a place for choir and band members to fit in and also get the new members adjusted into the program. It is always a positive experience.

"It's a really good experience, I've always really enjoyed it," said Cox.

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

Thomas A. Clark, 37, has surrendered in connection with the hit and run accident which occurred in Grayslake, Aug. 1.

The surrender followed police discovery of the 1985 Lincoln Town Car in Clark's garage at 18693 Ash St., Grandwood Park. Police impounded the car the evening of Aug. 21; Clark called the Grayslake police the next morning at 11 a.m. turning himself in.

Bicyclist Nathan Ovitt 21, of Mundelein was hit by the vehicle while riding his bike along Rte. 45 after midnight.

Clark is an employee of Motorola. Koletsos said they were unaware if he was coming from work when the accident occurred.

"He (Clark) made a statement he was coming back from the Milwaukee Roadhouse at the time of the accident," said Grayslake Sergeant Matt McCutcheon. "He said he didn't realize he hit a human being, but had read of it in the papers."

Grayslake Chief of Police Dennis Koletsos said Clark was charged with failure to report a personal injury accident, failure to transfer a motor vehicle title, no valid registration and no insurance.

"From the time of the accident he drove to the residence

'From the time of the accident he drove to the residence and we feel he secreted it (the car) until he could get auto parts to service the vehicle.'

—Chief Dennis Koletsos

and we feel he secreted it (the car) until he could get auto parts to service the vehicle," Koletsos explained. They also have reason to believe once he fixed the car he was going to sell it.

The work of the department's investigations team and the Northern Illinois Police Crime Lab was invaluable in solving the case, Koletsos said. From evidence collected at the scene the lab identified the car as a 1990-91 charcoal gray Cadillac Fleetwood Brougham. It ended up being very close and had a broken windshield and front end damage consistent with what the police description said it would be, Koletsos said.

The car was located in the garage due to several anonymous tips given to Corporal John Jansky of the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

According to Koletsos the garage where the car was located and another location were under investigation following the anonymous tips. He said both were connected with Clark and one was the home where the car was located.

Clark is out on a personal recognizance bond and at this time there are no other charges against him, according to Koletsos. Ovitt could pursue a civil suit if he chose to.

The evening of the accident Ovitt wasn't discovered until approximately half an hour after he was hit.

A motorist noticed a mangled bike along the side of Rt. 45 around 12:40 a.m. and notified police. It wasn't until they responded to the scene that Ovitt was discovered unconscious on the side of the road. Since the accident Ovitt has returned home and is recovering.

Air One helps snag wanted men

Suspects charged on several counts

Staff Report

A couple of roaming criminals brought the Illinois State Police Air One helicopter to Grayslake, Aug. 22, after they fled police in two separate instances in the vicinity of Routes 45 and 120. Jeffrey Collon 34, of Waukegan and Mario Wilson 28, of Palatine were both taken into custody following the incidents in which they initially gave false identities to police. Collon told police his name was Emiliano Hernandez, 22, of Puerto Rico and Wilson claimed he was Donald Weber, 29, of McHenry.

The two were stopped by police at the Shell gas station around 1:14 p.m. after police discovered visible open liquor in their car.

Collon immediately fled the scene on foot to the rear of the Shell station and as he was fleeing removed a .25 caliber handgun, according to Grayslake Chief of Police Dennis Koletsos. He then threw it over a fence surrounding the property.

Wilson told police he was receiving a ride from Collon and was let go. "We had no reason to doubt him," said Koletsos.

Collon was brought to the station where police discovered several items from a Waukegan burglary on him. They then returned to the gas station to question Wilson, who then fled on foot to the south east of the station.

"At that time the Grayslake units sealed off the area with the assistance of the Lake County Sheriff and Lindenhurst police. The State Police Department Air One copter and the Lake County Sheriff canine unit came in to locate Weber (Wilson) who then went to the west side of 45 and back to the east side. He was captured by Sergeant Mark Voykin and the Lake County Sheriff's people in a tree," according to Koletsos.

"Air one was invaluable to us. We located him as he ran from one side of the street to the other and it was 4 p.m.; there was a lot of traffic in the area and it was difficult to respond to the area because it's heavily wooded with tall grass," Koletsos said.

Wilson was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance and resisting arrest and was turned over to the Waukegan Police Department to aid in their burglary investigation.

Collon was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance, felony unlawful use of a weapon, resisting arrest, possession of stolen property, possession of stolen property, possession of drug paraphernalia (a crack cocaine pipe) and criminal damage to village property (he tore out a light fixture in the holding cell ceiling).

Following discovery of their true identities, they both received additional charges. Collon had a warrant out for his arrest from the Waukegan Police Department for criminal trespass and a warrant from the Wisconsin Department of Parole for sexual assault and violation of parole.

Wilson had a warrant out for his arrest from Hanover Park for a traffic violation and a warrant from McHenry County for crimes against a person. An additional charge of one count each was given for felony obstruction. Collon, since he was on parole also received a charge of felony possession of a firearm. According to Grayslake Sergeant Matt McCutcheon both have extensive criminal histories.

Hit the road man

David E. Cote, 17, 21808 W. North, Antioch, on Aug. 21, was arrested for criminal trespass. He was told to leave the McDonald's parking lot at an earlier time during the day. He came back at a later time and reportedly was told by police to leave and refused. He was then arrested.

Arrested for battery

Marianna Gonzales, 367 Bermuda, Fox Lake, on Aug. 25, was arrested for battery. She allegedly got in a verbal dispute with another person and punched the woman at the Waterfalls night club. The incident was witnessed by security.

Arrested for DUI

Jason Petykowski, 22, 223 Lakewood, Antioch, on Aug. 26, was arrested for driving under the influence. He was stopped for missing a traffic signal. He failed field sobriety tests and refused a breath test.

Joan Meluish, 39, 42696 N. Woodbine, Antioch, on Aug. 23, was arrested for driving under the influence. She failed field sobriety tests and refused a breath test.

Arrested for driving offenses

Gilbert Arroyo, 22, 1428 Sherwood, Gurnee, on Aug. 21, was arrested for driving with a revoked license and expired registration. He was stopped for an expired sticker and was found to have a revoked license.

Arrested for littering

James O'Connor, 35, 2322 126th St, Trevor, on Aug. 23, was arrested for littering. The officer reportedly saw O'Connor throw two pieces of paper out of his car onto the ground. He was then arrested for littering.

LAKE VILLA

Arrested for driving offenses

John Cole, 23, 40363 Lake, Antioch, on Aug. 24, was arrested for driving with a suspended license and speeding. The officer stopped Cole for allegedly driving 56 mph in a 40 mph zone. Cole was found to have a suspended license.

Ralph Robertson, 31, of Chicago, on Aug. 20, was arrested for driving with a suspended license, open transportation of alcohol and speed. He was stopped for speeding and was found to have a suspended license. The officer also saw an open can of beer in the vehicle.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

Antioch Foot Health Center

Gary J. Guziec, D.P.M. Ltd.
 Gary M. Kazmer, D.P.M.

HALLUX RIGIDUS

Hallux rigidus is a painful condition in which the flexibility of the big toe becomes limited.

Young persons with this condition tend to be female and to have long, narrow feet with a flat arch. The pressure caused by this shape of foot is transmitted through the first metatarsal bone and big toe.

The teenaged patient usually has intermittent bouts of sudden pain at the base of the big toe, which are worsened by walking, especially in high-heeled shoes. In adulthood, pain and stiffness are continual, and patients may also have a painful and tender bunion as well.

Your podiatrist may recommend a special shoe, which will allow comfort during the acute bouts of the condition. During a flare-up, injections of hydrocortisone may help. Surgery is usually reserved for cases where the pain is continuous or where it is steadily worsening.

Is Antioch a great place or what?

The Waszak/Cermak benefit held at the Waterfalls Restaurant is the reason so many of us choose to live in our quaint town. The event was a huge success because although Antioch may be relatively small in population, we have an over abundance of big hearts residing here. The organizers would truly like to thank all 130 very generous people, groups and businesses that donated items for the raffles as well as the 325 family, friends, acquaintances and strangers who attended the event. A special thanks goes out to the Waterfalls for their donation of the banquet room and the fine talents of their DJ, Pete, who also donated his time and was quite outstanding in his duties.

Although Paul and Chaneice were not there in person, you can bet they were there in spirit and oh how happy they were to see such an outpour of love and support in their honor. A special thank you goes out to Kathy Wechek, Alice Wegener, Marie Brausam and Holly Rollinger for without their efforts this benefit would never had gotten very far. The Memory Book was one of the highlights of the evening and without the input from all the friends and family the book would have never come to be.

Thanks to Liz Schmehl who sat at her computer for hours deciphering handwriting, adding personal touches here and there and alternating between tears and laughter as she compiled all those pieces of paper into a book that will never make the New York Best Sellers list but will be cherished forever in the hearts of so many who will miss the two young adults who left this world all too soon. Without the support of everyone that attended, donated, shared, witnessed and experienced the event, the evening would not have been such a fitting tribute to the two whose honor was being remembered. Thank you Antiochians for giving so unselfishly of yourselves.

A line dance update

It's been a couple of weeks since there has been a Line Dance updates from Jingle here and you can bet my phone has been ringing and my mailbox has been stuffed with requests to print the most current information pertaining to this hot new trend. So here we have it: The Triple J Restaurant, just over the state line on Hwy 83 is still hosting a Thursday night Line Dance Extravaganza from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. For your $5 cover charge you, not only gain entry into the Line Dance Emporium, you also have a chance to win one of many wonderful door prizes. Some of these prizes consist of Friday Night Fish Fry Dinners, Saturday Night Prime Rib Specials, Thursday Nights Pasta Bar, free drinks and even an occasional dinner for two. So if you are looking for a good way to get some exercise, enjoy the camaraderie of a fine bunch of fun-loving folks, or just an evening out, mosey on over to the Triple J for a close-to-home good time. Also the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department will be offering an eight week session of Line Dance Lessons beginning September 11. The lessons will be held at Grass Lake School from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and are basically open to anyone who is up and taking nourishment. Call Cheryl McCameron, the Park's Director for registration information. And as always Yee Ha! And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Governor allows fire fighters' license plates

Gov. Jim Edgar signed legislation creating special vehicle license plates that recognize Illinois firefighters and will support the construction of an Illinois Firefighters' Memorial on the grounds of the State Capital.

"Firefighters in Illinois put their lives on the line everyday, protecting and saving our lives and property," the Governor said. "The Memorial, funded through the sale of the special license plates, will be a tribute to the valor, dedication and sacrifice of all those who serve as firefighters." "In 1994, my administration initiated a program recognizing firefighters with the Firefighting Medal of Honor," Edgar said. "This Memorial will be another way we can show our gratitude and remember our fallen firefighters, who died while attempting to save the lives of other Illinoisans."

The license plates will cost $27 for the initial issuance, in addition to the regular registration fee. Of the $27, $12 will go to support the construction of the Memorial. Renewals will cost $17, plus the regular registration fee, with $15 being deposited in the Firefighters' Memorial Fund.

It is effective immediately.

Blast from the Past show gives boost to children

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

It was a great day to relax, take in some sun and enjoy some classic cars and quilts.

There were at least 600 people who stopped by for the Second Annual Blast From The Past Car Show and Quilt Expo. The event is designed to benefit the Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa.

"All and all it went very well," said Carolyn Bartlett of Central Baptist. "We were very pleased."

People had many classic cars to look at as about 100 cars were registered. The Kroozers Car Club sponsored the show.

In addition the Northern Lake County Quilters Guild provided a hands-on quilting exhibit and had plenty of hand-made quilts on display. People helped make a quilt which will be sold and the money given to the home.

"The quilters were delighted so many people came by to their exhibit," Bartlett said.

The food vendors did quite well also. They include Wild Bills, Ma and Pa's Kettle, the Parent Network and Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment.

Bartlett added the nice weather helped with attendance and the spirits of those who came.

Children enjoyed Chuck-A-Roo the clown and the pony rides.

Central Baptist provides foster care for abused children. The organization counsels abusive parents.

The day also was a dedication of the Bright Beginnings Preschool on the Central Baptist grounds.

Bartlett added the Kroozers hope to line up even more cars for next year's event.

Crisis Line training classes begin

Learn to help others as well as improve your own personal relationships by attending a concentrated two-week course offered by Connection Crisis Intervention and Referral Service for Crisis Line volunteers starting Sept. 19.

"The Power of Listening" prepares volunteers to work on Connection's 24 hour a day hot line. It is taught by professional family counselor Curt Wennerdahl, MSW, MDiv who uses experienced Crisis Line telephone workers as group instruction leaders.

Students receive basic information about such topics as mental illness, family difficulties, and related topics including suicide intervention. During the sessions, students do a great deal of role playing to accustom themselves to using their skills. They learn how to use their own personal strength to assist people in crisis, how to help a person talk through a specific problem or concern, and how to help callers find the specialized help they might need thanks to Connection's computerized listing of almost 1,000 social service agencies and organizations.

"The Power of Listening" course will be held Sept. 19 through Oct. 3 at Condell Day Center in Libertyville. It consists of three Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 10 p.m. and two Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. While it is designed primarily to prepare volunteers to work on Connection's 24-hour Crisis Line, the course is of value to almost everyone since its most important component is teaching people how to listen effectively.

The course is offered only three times a year. The next sessions will not begin until January of '97. Minimum age for Crisis Line workers is 18. The only cost is a $15 fee for materials. Upon completing the course students receive a certificate. Three hours of college credit at either the graduate or undergraduate level can be arranged. For further information, or to register for the classes beginning Sept. 19, the Connection office weekdays at 362-3381.

Antioch plans community-wide marrow drive

In an effort to share "The Living Gift of Life" with more people who are suffering from fatal blood diseases, a community-wide marrow drive is being organized in Antioch to increase the number of marrow donors.

For many people suffering from fatal blood diseases such as leukemia, a bone marrow transplant from a matched marrow donor is the only hope.

A community marrow drive is being planned in Antioch on Saturday, Sept. 28 at St. Peter's School gymnasium.

"Every year, more than 30,000 children and adults in the United States are diagnosed with fatal blood diseases such as leukemia," said Ted Axton, coordinator of the Antioch Community marrow Drive and president of First National Bank of Antioch.

He added, "For the 70 percent of patients who need a marrow transplant and cannot find a matched donor within their family, an unrelated donor is the only hope."

By organizing a community-wide marrow drive, Axton said the Antioch drive aims to add more volunteer donors to the National Marrow Donor Program's Registry. Currently, there are about 2 million volunteer donors listed on the registry, but there are more than 2,000 searches going on at any one time.

"The chances of finding a match are one in 20,000. To make it an even chance of finding someone who matches, you would need 40 million donors in the national registry," noted Axton, who recently completed a marrow transplant.

Since 1985, there have been more than 5,000 transplants, and that number increases at about 75 per month.

Simply put, more donors increase the odds of finding a successful bone marrow transplant for someone suffering from leukemia or other fatal blood diseases.

If you would like more information about how to become a volunteer marrow donor during the Sept. 28 community drive, call (847) 395-1309.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Boat victim inquest nears

Lake County Coroner Barbara E. Richardson will be performing an inquest on the deaths of various individuals including Arnold "Dick" Carlson; Chris Carlson; and Renee Roman Sept. 4.

Both Carlsons and Roman were killed July 11 on Nippersink Lake in Fox Lake while coming back from Blarney's Island after the weekly boat races.

Robert Heaney and Michael Nank were also on Carlson's boat, but survived the crash.

At around 10 p.m. Carlson's boat was struck by another vessel operated by Joseph Remke. He and his passengers, James Garrelts, and Peter Huinkler reported minor injuries.—by TINA L. SWIECH

Volunteers needed for PADS shelters

The 15 Connection/PADS emergency shelters located throughout Lake County need volunteers who are able to work one four-hour shift once a week or even once a month during the 1996-97 cold weather season that begins on October 1.

PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) provides homeless men, women, and children with emergency shelter, meals and advocacy from October 1 through April 30. Each shelter is open one night a week with two or three shelters open each night. Shelters are located on a rotating basis in Antioch, Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Lindenhurst, Mundelein, Wauconda, Waukegan and Wildwood.

Anyone able to give a few hours a month to help those who have no place to call home is asked to attend an hour and a half orientation. No advanced registration is required and attendance at an orientation session does not obligate anyone to become a PADS volunteer. The sessions prepare volunteers to work in a PADS shelter and to understand some of the dynamics associated with homelessness.

Orientations are scheduled for: Wednesday, Sept. 4, 7 to 8:30 p.m. St. Mary's-Fremont Center, 22333 W. Erhart Rd., Mundelein; Wednesday, Sept. 11, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Holy Family Parish, 914 8th., Waukegan; Saturday, Sept.

14, 8 to 9:30 a.m. United Methodist Church, 848 Main St., Antioch; Thursday, Sept. 19, 7 to 8:30 a.m., Church of the Annunciation, Sterns School and Dilly's Roads, Waukegan; Wednesday, Sept. 25; Wednesday, Oct. 16; Tuesday, Nov. 19, 7 to 8:30 p.m., College of Lake County, Room C005, Grayslake; Monday, Sept. 30, 7 to 8:30 p.m. First Presbyterian Church, 834 Waukegan Rd., Deerfield; and Sunday, Oct. 20, 1 to 2:30 p.m., First Congregational Church, 315 N. Utica, Waukegan.

Area residents who are interested in attending a session are invited to call the Connection/PADS office at 362-3381 for more information.

CLC to offer course for soon-to-be retirees

"Getting Older, Getting Wiser," a complete course in retirement planning, will be offered by the Department of Community Education and Economic Development at the College of Lake County. Interested persons can attend the course from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Sept. 30 and Oct. 2, or on Nov. 12 and 14. An optional bonus session will be offered from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Nov. 19. All sessions will be held in room C003 at the Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St.

Topics covered in the course include Social Security, financial planning and investments, estate planning, risk management, transition to retirement and health-care needs. The sessions will be presented by representatives from the Social Security Administration, Prudential Securities and other financial planning and insurance experts. Additionally, case studies will be analyzed and a comprehensive retirement plan for participants will be developed in the class.

The course fee is $40 per person and $5 extra for a guest. To register, call 223-3615 or fax to 223-9371. Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Discover will be accepted.

The Warren Moser Pavilion Dedication will be held Sept. 7 at Pedersen Park across from the Jewel in Antioch from 2 to 5 p.m. Food and drinks will be served. An open invitation is being extended to all who helped out in any way.

Bill suspends Marine Fuel Tax

President Clinton signed legislation suspending the 24.4 cents per gallon federal tax on diesel fuel used by recreational boaters.

"Seven days from now (August 27), our waterways will be less hazardous for many boaters who should be able to purchase the same red-dyed, non-taxed fuel used by commercial mariners which is more widely available around the country," said BOAT/U.S. Government Affairs Director Michael Sciuila.

The diesel tax suspension, which will stay in effect through December 31, 1997, was included in the omnibus Small Business Job Protection/Minimum Wage bill that was overwhelmingly approved by Congress earlier in the month.

The measure was pushed through Congress by Sens. John Chafee (R-RI), John Breaux (D-LA), William Roth (R-DE) and Reps. Clay Shaw (R-FL) and Sam Farr (D-CA). Their constituents had been complaining for more than two years that the government's fuel dyeing scheme was causing fuel shortages and safety problems throughout the country.

The Treasury Department must provide a report to Congress by April 1, 1997 on alternative means of collection. The diesel tax was first levied in 1994 in order to raise revenues to offset the repeal of another ill-conceived tax—the 10 percent luxury tax on boats, furs and jewelry. Subsequent regulations caused shortages because marine fuel retailers—who often have only one diesel tank and pump—were forced to make a choice between selling to either commercial or recreational customers.

The campaign to suspend the tax was a 30-month long collaborative effort between BOAT/U.S. and the National Marine Manufacturers Association.

Again, a special thank you to the Anderson family, the Village Board, the parks and recreation board, the village crew, the mayor, Tim Wells, Joe Huber and all merchants, friends and family, who without your support this could not have been accomplished.

We're all able to remember Warren in a special way, by dedicating this pavilion in his name and giving back in a small way to Antioch for always being there for the people in their community.

Thank You,
The Warren Moser

ACHS budget includes technology upgrades

Budget hearing scheduled for Sept. 19

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch High School board's decision to upgrade technology will cost the district more money but these changes will be integrated in the classroom.

The board is planning on a 4.8 percent increase over last year. The board also is projecting a 4.7 percent rise in revenue, according to Bill Ahlers, business manager.

"We're financing our computer lab and expanding our learning center," Ahlers said.

The district is putting the finishing touches on the computer lab for this school year. Students will also have access to the Internet which is a collection of databases from throughout the world.

Another planned improvement is with the physics and science lab.

"We are modernizing the physics and science lab," Ahlers said.

The district's tentative budget is $670,867. The district expects to collect $658,407.

Approximately 57 percent of the budget goes to pay for salaries and benefits, Ahlers noted. That number is significantly lower than many other districts.

"We contract out a lot of our services such as transportation and custodial," Ahlers noted.

A copy of the budget is available for inspection at the high school office.

The board has set a budget hearing for Sept. 19 at the high school board room. If all goes well, the board will adopt the budget at the meeting.

Study

residents and get volunteers ready we would be willing to do this next year," Dam said.

Jonites said she had promised homeowners that the study would be approved. She claims Karen Kabbes, executive director, told her the study would be done this year.

The study would be financed from 60 percent state funds and 40 percent agency funds. Martini said some of that 40 percent could be credited through volunteer help.

The agency board didn't second the motion to vote on the measure at the Aug. 12 meeting. At the Aug. 19 advisory board, it was Martini who brought the issue up with no action taken.

The grant must be submitted by Aug. 31 for consideration.

Also critical of the move was newly appointed advisory board member Bill Liniewicz. Liniewicz said the agency is not serving the needs of its constituents.

"It was short sighted. I let it be known I am very unhappy with the direction the board decided to take," Liniewicz said.

Liniewicz feels the board is setting aside the interests of those who live by the lake for those of boaters and marina owners.

He added the water quality plan could lead to a sewer study funded by the United States Environmental Protection Agency.

Martini said the agency needs to take more of a long term approach to the problem.

"Dredging is only a short-term solution," she added. "We need to have an overall water quality management plan."

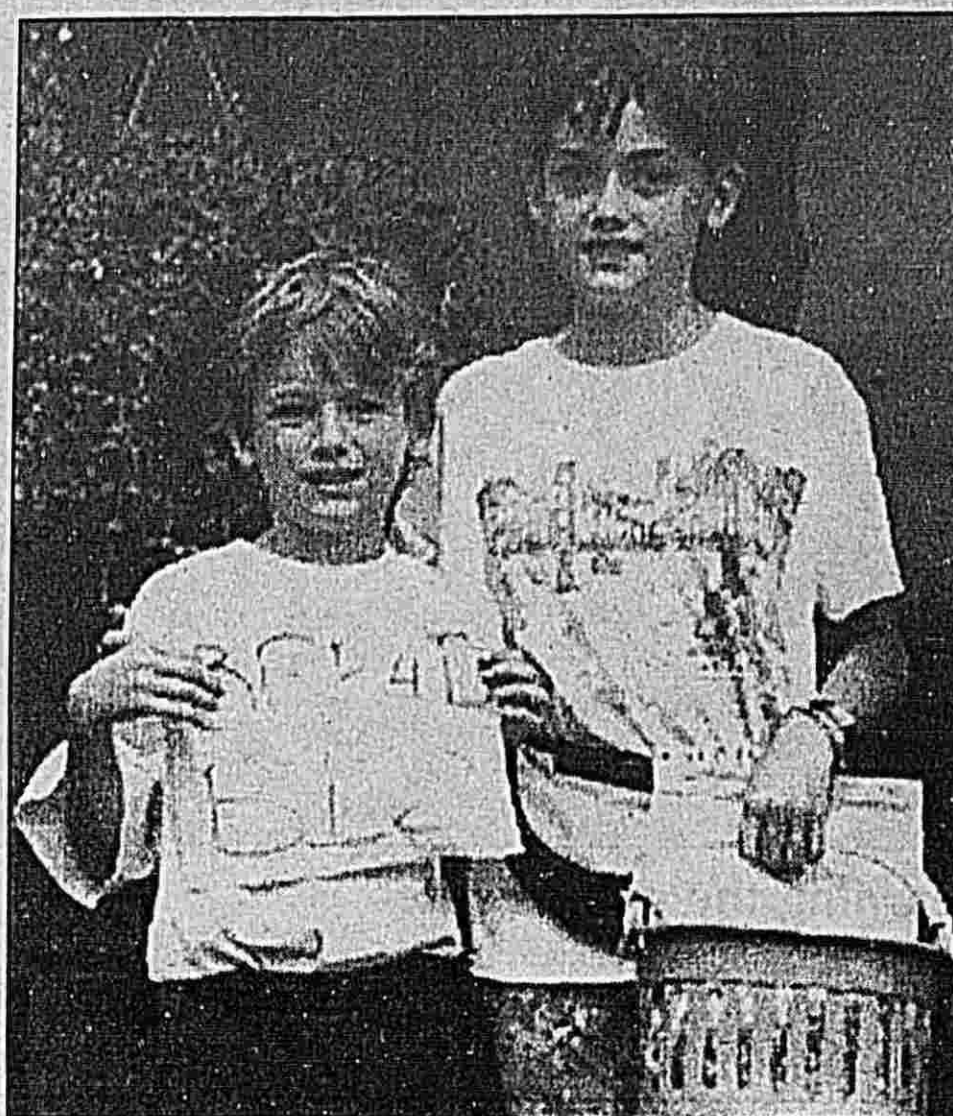

She added Lake Catherine has a seaweed problem which the study could help determine how best to solve it.

Dam said the board has too many projects and couldn't take another.

"We are already committed to many projects. The executive director and executive secretary didn't have enough time to fill out the forms and monitor the work," Dam said.

He mentioned most of the dredging work will be in Antioch Township.

Martini said she hopes the board would still consider the issue before the Aug. 31 deadline.

Resident dies in house accident

Staff Report

An Antioch township man was killed from injuries sustained after falling from his house.

Kevin Walpole, 39, reportedly fell approximately 20 feet while working on the roof of his new home at 25047 Palmer Court.

He was a member of St. Peter's Church in Antioch. He was a computer programmer at Harris Bank in Chicago.

Walpole died of massive head injuries.

According to Tom Braze of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, Walpole was working on a free standing scaffolding, caulking his home, when he apparently slipped and fell.

He fell approximately 20-25 feet onto a concrete walkway on his head.

The accident occurred at about 9 a.m. on Aug. 24. He was transported to St. Therese Hospital by Antioch Rescue Squad.

He was pronounced dead by the emergency room physician at the hospital.

Walpole was a member of two Antioch High School teams which won the North Suburban Conference title.

He is survived by his wife Cecelia and three children aged 5, 3 and 1.

A witness reportedly heard the scaffolding fall and went to see what happened. The witness saw Walpole and informed another neighbor who called Antioch Rescue Squad.

This is the fourth death in two months. A man died in a car crash two weeks ago, another mother and child were accidentally electrocuted three weeks ago and a car accident took the life of an Antioch man in early July.

this such a special town," said Claude Lemere, community development director, of the volunteer efforts.

Other locations include Centennial Park and Williams Park and the train station, just to name a few.

All of the plantings are cared for by the Antioch Garden Club members. Each area of flowers is maintained by a different club member. Joan Duegenske coordinates the care for these areas.

All of this work is done by volunteers and at no cost to taxpayers.

Park kicks around plans for more soccer fields

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst Park District Board is beginning work on what will likely be the first of a few new soccer fields.

Preliminary work is already underway on a soccer field at Engle Park. This is the first new soccer field in many years. The soccer program from the Lindenhurst Youth Soccer League draws between 950-1,100 children each year, according to Tom Lippert, park district director.

"It's the hope and desire to begin construction on the field this fall," Lippert said.

He added a contractor has been hired to help coordinate the project with park district staff. So far, the field layout was surveyed and recorded.

"It appears like we have all open land but the Sanitary District owns land east of the fence. We want to make sure the field is in park district land," Lippert added.

Another difficult process is determining the piping and getting bids from plumbers. Lippert added Village Engineer Wes Welsh has been helpful in providing information regarding village standards.

The piping is needed for an irrigation system. The plan is to have the system in place when the field is seeded.

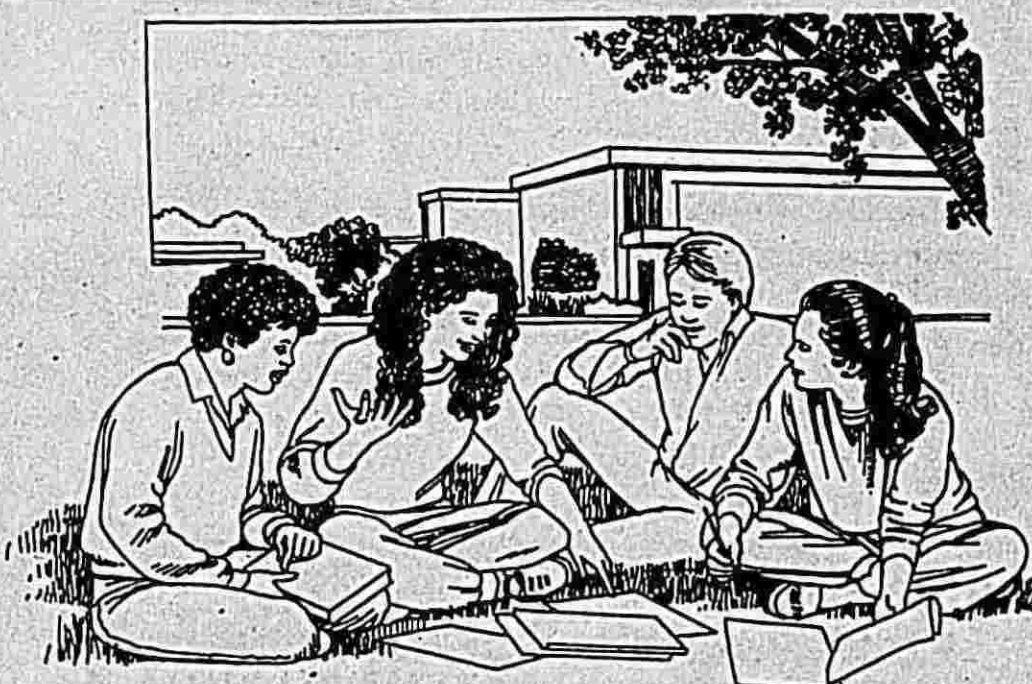

In addition, park planning for the Heritage Trail subdivision park, a 6-acre parcel will likely include at least two soccer fields, according to Lippert.

"The developer may donate the park site to the district by next year so we have to accelerate master planning of the site," Lippert said.

Currently the league uses Forest View Park's two soccer fields, three fields at Polley Field and three at Oakland School.

Lippert added there may be additional soccer fields added to Forest View Park. Currently Doug Gotham of Leisure Concepts & Design is working on a revised plan for that park.

Lindenhurst soccer teams take tourney 1st

The Lindenhurst Turbos (Boys U-14) took first place in the Mt. Prospect Green and White Soccerfest. They defeated the Schaumburg Genesis 2-1. Both Turbo goals were scored by Michael Wheeler on penalty kicks. The Turbos next defeated the Elia Lions 1-0 and the Mt. Prospect Green and White 4-0.

Scoring goals for Lindenhurst were Matt Peterson, Jeff Prorok (2), Michael Wheeler with a header on a corner kick from Prorok, and Marco Markovic with a header on a corner kick from Chris Cole. Unfortunately, the Turbos lost Kieran Moran with a broken leg in the Elia game.

The Turbos dedicated the championship game to Moran in which they defeated the Barrington Blitz 2-0. Jason Adams took care of the scoring. Excellent defensive work was turned in by Don Pearson, Adam Richter, Nate Hook, Kieran Moran, and goalie Jason Myers.

The Lindenhurst Typhoon (Boys U-9) also took first place the Mt. Prospect Green and White Soccerfest. They defeated the Palatine Celtic 2-1, Skomor Purple 3-0, and the Mt. Prospect Green and White 3-1. In the championship game, the Typhoon took a 1-0 lead over the Barrington Blitz into half-time and then pressed the attack to prevail 3-1.

Leading the scoring for the Typhoon was Darren Nordstrom with eight goals. Other scorers were Alex McKenzie (2), Ian Hunter, and Nick Pietka. Assisting on the forward line were Chris Leal and Brett McKenzie. Aidan Moran, Trevor Hall, Ryan Knupp, and Joe Barlow provided strong support at midfield. Kyle Kozuch played and Matt Wade played excellent defense in support of goalkeepers Erick Voight and Brett Carlson. The Typhoon also took first place in the C Division of the U-9 Seeding Tournament in Hinsdale on Aug. 17-18.

Sportsmanship push begins in North Conference

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

A post-season dinner and weekly sportsmanship awards are two ways North Suburban Conference officials are looking at increasing sportsmanship or citizenship.

Last year, conference athletic directors and principals came up with a set of common belief statements. These ranged from having players lined up with their helmets off for the National Anthem to talking positively to the media.

"Don't make excuses and always talk positive about your teammates and the NSC. This is a very competitive football conference. What feuds there have been can be patched up," Tim Albers, Libertyville High athletic director, said.

The sportsmanship or citizenship award could be selected by the opposing players. "We have to set up some solid criteria," Albers said. "Zion and North Chicago had a dinner before a basketball game and that went a long way to mending the old wounds," Bill King, athletic director at North Chicago High, said.

King said Mundelein High players will be invited to participate in all pre-game Navy Day

The conference will encourage teams to respect each others' "houses" as they travel to different facilities and they will give their visitors the respect they deserve.

festivities on Sept. 7.

"Some perceptions are incorrect," King said. "I love Zion. After the rivalries, we have to function as human beings."

The conference will encourage teams to respect each others' "houses" as they travel to different facilities and they will give their visitors the respect they deserve.

The discussions came as conference schools met at Antioch High for a pre-season meeting. Players were brought in, and the media invited for meetings and dinner.

"This is something the athletic directors and principals are behind," Jim Kapfer, athletic director at Antioch High, said.

A booklet was shared among coaches stating special dates and useful information. Lake Forest High will host the next football season preview next fall. A preview session is in the works for basketball season.

One such date promises to be Sept. 6, when Zion-Benton turns on its lights for the first time. It hosts non-conference Crystal Lake Central that night. Antioch will be the first NSC team to play under the new lights when it visits on Sept. 20.

NWSC, ACHS linksters learn about water woes at county

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Adjusting to the number of holes in which water plays a factor can be the difference between a good day and a bad one at Abbotteum Golf Course.

Just ask the golfers from Grayslake, Grant and Round Lake High Schools.

"It is a different course. On the front nine, I had trouble with some penalty shots. Water comes into play on most of the holes," Jason White said.

The Grayslake golfer fared better than most Northwest Suburban Conference golfers at the Lake County meet. He had an 87.

Grayslake topped NWSC teams with a 10th place 356, five strokes shy of ninth on this breezy Tuesday. Barrington won the team title with a 308 score.

White, Derrick Soderholm (95 on Tuesday); Erick Johnson (87); Brian Pikel (87) are seniors for the Rams.

Head coach Troy Harper believes the team came well prepared for the first practice sessions. "I gave them a list of tournaments to play in and a lot played on their own or worked a driving range or golf courses," head coach Troy Harper said.

Jeremy Abrams, who had a 99 at the county meet, is a promising freshman.

"Our goal is to be competitive in the conference," Harper said.

On White: "He does not hit for a lot of distance, but does hit the greens in regulation," Harper said.

Antioch scored the best of area teams with a fifth-place 334. Mike Nicken, Shawn Hansen and Tony Hunsberger all had 83s. Brett Cromens had an 85 and Jeff Cruello had an 87.

All NWSC teams had at least some adjusting to do. "We are basically a dry course conference," Dan Stacey, Grayslake assistant coach said. "We did pretty good for not playing the course before."

"We have a lot of seniors, but just one or two shot well last year," Mark Boyan, Grant High coach, said.

Ben Degner led the Bulldogs with a 91. Vinnie Desecki had a 93 and Jason Hiner had a 95. Grant had a 389 for 12th place.

Defending NWSC individual champ David Rheberg led the Panthers with a 95.

All three teams compete at Renwood Country Club in league action Sept. 3.

"As of now, we have three people who score pretty consistently. Today shows unless we get a fourth score, we will not be competitive in conference," Alan Dorfman, Round Lake coach, said.

Grant High golfer Jason Hinger, left and Grayslake golfer Jason White review their scores. The Lake County boys golf season began with the Lake County meet. Barrington won the meet with Stevenson gaining a tie for third place.

Seniors to lead Antioch Spikers to challenge NSC

Antioch High's girls volleyball team is in a position most teams would like to be as the new season starts.

The Sequoias have four returning seniors plus juniors who saw playing time last year.

"We should be extremely athletic and that should help us defensively. We have a little more height this year and overall quickness," coach Gwen Varney said.

Carrie Gofron leads the returning seniors as a 5-foot, 9-inch hitter. Jeannna Miller is a 5-8 backrow player who is recovering from a knee injury. "She is looking really sharp," Varney said.

Carrie Kowalczyk is a third senior back and is a setter. "She has a good, hard serve which drops quickly," Varney said.

Liz Koeck is a 5-6 defender who is also a good server, the coach said.

Juniors who saw playing time last year include: Lisa Ipsen, back from a knee injury; Jenny Cardis, who started at times last year and is an improved front row player; Aja Brown is back after attending Carmel High last year.

"She is 5-9 and she is going to be a major contributor," Varney said.

The Sequoias reported to pre-season drills in good shape largely due to the other sports they play, the coach said.

Antioch, 16-18 last year, hopes to battle defending champ Lake Forest, and always-tough Libertyville and Stevenson for the top honors in the North Suburban Conference.

The Sequoias host Harvard in the Sept. 4 opener before traveling to Grant Sept. 6 and the Jacobs tournament Sept. 7.

Grant Bulldog's gridiron squad looks to Paddock

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Grant High School is out to prove success gained this summer in passing leagues was not just a passing fancy.

A pre-season scrimmage confirmed the passing of QB Dave Paddock may be a strength of the team.

"Right now, our passing game is ahead of our running game," Grant coach Mark Barczak said.

"The offensive line has been working hard and playing together. It is fun to watch them work," he said.

"The offensive line has improved 90 percent over last year," Paddock said.

Seniors Mark Mortensen and Tom Brezenski are vying for time in the backfield as running backs and have a threat from a diminutive sophomore.

"We never expected Mike to play varsity, but he is pushing the veterans here," Barczak said of Mike Grischeau, a 5-foot, 7-inch speedster.

Grischeau got a taste of what it is like to be in the spotlight last year. "I played quarterback for the last game of the season because the first two guys were hurt," he said.

Senior Jim Congilio will handle the punting chores. Phil Friese will do the field goal kicking. Kicking is another positive bright spot.

Northwest teams consider move to north

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The final year of the Northwest Suburban Conference as currently structured may be a motivating factor for the five teams.

"We would like to go to the Fox Valley as the first or second-place team from the NWSC," Dan Dillon, Grayslake High head football coach and athletic director, said.

Grayslake begins play in the Fox Valley in 1987-88 while Marian Central moves to the West Suburban Catholic. Johnsbury, Wauconda, Grand and Round Lake have yet to make their decisions on league or independent status.

One possibility is association with the Big Northern Conference. The two-division league includes Richmond-Burton.

"There has been a lot of discussion and there will be a principal's meeting next month. The Northwest Suburban schools would have to apply and they have not done that yet," Jan Welch, athletic director at Richmond, said.

The Big Northern has 11 teams and adding one or three teams would assist scheduling. Richmond has an enrollment of 400 students. Round Lake, the largest NWSC school, has 1,393 students.

"We are going in with a proposal as a group," Jim LePage, Wauconda athletic director, said.

The meeting for athletic directors is scheduled for Sept. 5.

Thoughts are for other sports, weekends will be the time for conference clashes, especially in the spring.

"Divisional set-ups are possible for football.

"Many schools in the Big Northern have quality programs such as Harvard in football and wrestling and Richmond in football," Grant High athletic director Frank Cittadino said.

He added Marian Central kept the others informed as to reasons for their move every step of the way.

Richmond plays neighbor Johnsbury in all sports except football. It plays Grant in a boys basketball tournament, Round Lake in girls softball and Wauconda in most sports other than football.

Round Lake head football coach Kevin Dempsey, a 15-year staffer, summed up what it means to leave the league.

"I will miss all the neighborhood rivalries and the players knowing each other," he said.

"It will be tough," Fred Loffredo, a Hall-of-Fame football coach who coached at Wauconda and Grant.

Garrett's long run sparks Chiefs to third season win

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

When Willie Garrett was a football player at Waukegan West High School, he felt his skills were, well, limited in use.

That is certainly not the case in the world of semi-professional football. The one-time blocking back dashed for a 95-yard touchdown run as the Lake County Chiefs hung on for a 14-11 win over the Palos Force.

"I had a dream of playing tailback. At Waukegan West they used smallish halfbacks - I always played fullback in short yardage situations," Garrett said.

His touchdown and a two-point conversion run by Pernell Moore gave the Chiefs a 14-3 lead. The Chiefs defense held on at the end as the Force scored after a short Chiefs punt.

Garrett played his college football at Midland College in Nebraska. "I was all-American my senior and junior year. Doug Harrington, who played at Waukegan West, told me about them. It gave me a chance to work on my major and concentrate on football," Garrett said.

Garrett's major is broadcasting and he is working for a Milwaukee television station.

"I picked up the running style (high stepping) in college," he said. He dashed past Robert Murphy, who had harassed the Chiefs offense and was all alone for the final 20 yards.

"We have a great team. If we stick together, we can have an unbeaten team. Palos is the toughest team in the conference," he said.

Garrett had a 21-yard run on the game's fourth play nullified when he fumbled. The touchdown was set up by an unusual 30 yards in penalties against the Chiefs.

"I was losing my mind. The refs told the players one thing and me another. Garrett is a constant threat though when teams key on Moore," Chiefs coach Al Clark said.

The Chiefs will be taking some time off. The 3-0 team next faces the Chicago Chargers Sept. 8 at 5 p.m. at Hanson Stadium in Chicago in Chicagoland Football League action.

The Chiefs struck first as Reggie Matthews scored on a 5-yard run following a Palos fumble.

The Force gained a 47-yard field goal, but one possession later, Garrett darted to the middle and outran the final defender.

The defense came through with a blocked field goal. The secondary, led by Steve Garner's knockdown of a pass and Nathan Pratt, stymied the Force. Lindsey Miller had an interception for the Chiefs.

John Pelkakis scored on an 8-yard TD pass to make things interesting for the Force in the final 90 seconds. But the Chiefs were more than up to the task.

Clark said the conditioning is a key in the final minutes.

The Chiefs once again went with the two quarterbacks, Malcolm Smith and James McMillian.

Antioch golfers finish fifth in county

With the top four scores 85 or less, Antioch High golf coach Roger Alm sees bright things to build off of from the Lake County meet.

"I expect some good things this year. We have seniors who were juniors last year who are showing some leadership now," he said.

Stevenson High's course.

Brett Cromeans, a senior, had an 87.

Drengler had the best score for nine holes, an 38 on the back nine.

"They played the course once before and the seniors had played the course when they were freshmen. Barrington had a real advantage as did Stevenson because it is their home course," Alm said.

Antioch finished fifth with a score of 334 strokes. Barrington won the meet with a 308.

"We have to improve from this," Alm, in his sixth year, said.

The Sequoits hope to challenge powers Stevenson and Lake Forest for the North Suburban Conference title.

The Sequoits host McHenry in their first home meet of the year Sept. 6 at Spring Valley Country Club.

Lake County Vikes take capitol team by storm

The Lake County Vikings held down the offense of Springfield to less than 100 yards while improving to two wins in three games.

The Vikes made the trip to Springfield Saturday and came home with a 27-9 win.

Quarterback Adam Tesch threw for two touchdowns, to Ben Kern and Rick Starosta.

Running back Luke Tesch scored twice himself for the four scores.

"Our offense had 350 yards in total offense. Adam was 14-of-22 passing for 187 yards and two touchdowns and Luke had 20 carries and 143 yards," Vikings coach Russ Kraly said.

Bob Akers and Jerome Collins had interceptions. "Both of their scores were set up by our turnovers. They only had about 22 yards in offense," Kraly said.

The linebacking group also played well as did ends Pat Cunningham and Anthony Poole.

The 2-1 Vikings are off until Sept. 7 when they host the Chicago Falcons at 6 p.m. at Round Lake High.

This is a rematch of the Midwest Football League title game of last year won by the Vikings.

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

One thing was certain before Grayslake High's season opening football game with Mundelein.

A player named Palo will start at quarterback in the 7 p.m. clash Aug. 30.

Jeff Palo gained the nod over his cousin, Jason.

"Jeff has shown some senior leadership. He has been running the offense for four years and has been working with assistant coach Tom Wittum this summer," Rams coach Dan Dillon said.

Palo is 6-foot, 175 pounds.

The Grayslake mentor is buoyed not only by a large senior class with at least 15 players in their final year, but a turnout of 55 freshmen.

"This is the best start we have had," he said.

A newcomer, Brian Rob, is penciled in at center. He attended Carmel High but moved to Grayslake too late for last year.

Rich Anderson, Nick Fleece, Joe Petersen and Bob Clifford are leaders on the offensive line. Only one position, right tackle, is up for grabs.

Neil Schroeder, a junior and last year's leading rusher Jason Olson are back in the backfield. Dan Domutz could be a frequent receiver for either Palo.

Schroeder has matured beyond his junior year as a football player, Dillon said.

"The seniors have accepted him as one of their own. It is like this is his senior year and last year was his junior year. That is the glory of bringing up kids as sophomores," Dillon said.

The Rams plan on having even their standouts go both ways on offense and defense.

The Rams are in their final year in the Northwest Suburban Conference. With teams going their separate ways next year, the Rams would like nothing better than to give a strong final showing.

"It would be great to go into our new conference (the Fox Valley) after being the first or second-place team in the NWSC," Dillon said.

The Rams, 3-6 last year and 3-2 NWSC, have a slogan which will carry them through all nine games beginning with Mundelein Aug. 30.

"It is 'beat the little man.' They still have the chip on their shoulder, that little man who says no matter how hard they work, they will not be successful," Dillon said.

With a winning season a possibility, perhaps that 'little man' will be elsewhere by the end of October.

Rams kickers preparing NWSC 3-peat

Grayslake High's soccer team will be vying to end the Northwest Suburban Conference years with a dynasty.

The Rams are gunning for their third straight conference title. "The kids are ready to go for three. They are doing a great job," coach Joe Martinez said.

Grayslake will join the Fox Valley Conference after this season.

The Rams will have a new look in goalie for at least the start of the season. Jason Patterson is serving a four-game suspension due to team rules.

"Patterson is such an impact player. But he will be a better man for it (the suspension)," Martinez said.

Freshman Blake Larson or senior Jason Cherwa may get the nod in the season-opening tournament at Highland Park.

"Blake is a very intense athlete - his hands are his best asset," Martinez said.

Brian Dinkelberg, Griffin Ford and Joshua Shipley are key returning seniors.

Allen Shih, a fullback-sweeper is a transfer from Kansas who could contribute.

Gregg Sweeney and Trevor Smith are juniors who hope to start. Striker Bryan Phillip could share the scoring load with Chris Kingma, a sophomore midfielder who is faster and stronger than last year, Martinez said.

The turnout was such for the final year of the Northwest Suburban Conference affiliation - 57 players, that Martinez has had to ask another assistant be approved. Dan Landry returns to guide the junior varsity.

A summer camp was well attended, he said.

He knows the importance of keeping sports in perspective. "Family and school come first and soccer comes next. We definitely want to surprise some people - going for the third title makes us hungry for it," he said.

Rams girls poised for run at title; boys to rebuild

With the addition of a seasoned veteran and some prospects of their own, Grayslake High's girls cross country team plans to make another run at the Northwest Suburban Conference title.

The Rams were bounced from their perch atop the NWSC last season by Johnsburg and Marian Central.

Jenna Marcanti plans to be a factor in changing all that. The senior qualified for the state meet in two years at Prospect before moving to Grayslake.

"She finished as high as 54th. She is a good role model and has a good work ethic," Rams coach Joel Peebles said.

Grayslake veterans include junior Joanne Reiland, who was No. 1 runner last year. "She continues to improve," Peebles said.

Michele Tessmann, Laura Tipton and Tina Fish are juniors who assisted Grayslake in their last league title two years ago.

Annette Melecio, a senior, is back for the Rams after living last year in Puerto Rico.

Freshman Jaime Reiland is a youngster who could make an impact.

"We stress pack running with a small gap in time between the first to last finisher," Peebles said.

Boys: the Rams plan on a rebuilding year after winning the conference two of the last four years.

Dan Turner, a junior and Tony Spatz, a senior, are back and "we have some underclassmen coming along," Peebles said.

Both boys and girls seasons begin with a meet with Carmel and Waukegan hosted by Zion-Benton on Sept. 3.

Hastings Lake YMCA offers youth sports

Hastings Lake YMCA Youth Sports Program, located at 21155 W. Golden Rd., Lake Villa, is offering Fall Soccer and T-ball for 4 to 6 year-olds from Sept. 9 through Oct. 10.

The fee for members is $22, non-members $50.

This Fall the YMCA is partnering up with the NFL to offer Flag football for boys and girls ages 6 to 14 years-olds.

This program will run from Sept. 16 through Oct. 24. The cost will be $35 for members, $45 non-members.

Adult Volleyball Wednesday nights Sept. 11 through Oct. 23. Fee: $15 members, $33 non-members.

CLC spikers to stand tall, ready to make mark

One thing you can say with certainty about the College of Lake County women's volleyball squad this year.

It will be a tall order to beat them.

"We have some big time height this year. Our shortest player is 5-foot, 7 inches, and we have four over 5-10," coach Sue Garcia said. "We will have the height advantage this year."

Grayslake standout Courtney Caldwell, six feet, brings her talents to the Grayslake junior college as a setter. "She is doing well and her confidence is growing each day," Garcia said.

Garcia said the Lancers are working on a quicker offense. Skyway Conference foe Oakton will be the first league foe to come to the Grayslake campus' gym on Sept. 17.

The sophomores are 5-8 Carrie Curtis of Antioch and Jenny Vosberg.

Warren High's All-conference Jenny Rice comes to CLC. She will be a 5-7 outside hitter.

"She will hit a strong middle. She is very intense," Garcia said.

Carrie Collins, another ex-Blue Devil, also is on the CLC roster. "She is a lefty who brings some experience with club play," Garcia said.

Kerry Penney, a Carmel High graduate, is back in Lake County after attending the University of Iowa last year.

Bonnie Pederson, a Round Lake standout, is a 5-11 middle hitter and "one of the strongest hitters. She will also give us some big blocks," Garcia said.

Zion-Benton grads Cathleen Cross, 5-10, is back from Arizona where she made the team but did not play.

Jackie Cartwright, a 5-8 lefty, is a defensive specialist.

Garcia, in her sixth year, described the recruiting class "as the best we've had since 1990."

The Lancers compete in a 12-team tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas through Sept. 1. The first home meet is not until Sept. 12 at 5 p.m. against Milwaukee Area Technical College.

There's only one way to get Series HH Savings Bonds: Exchange Series E/EE Savings Bonds and Savings Notes for them.

HH Savings Bonds, of course, offer the security of knowing your investment is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States. They also offer tax advantages.

With HH Bonds, you'll receive interest payments every six months for up to 20 years. That interest is exempt from state and local income taxes, although it's subject to annual federal income tax reporting. If, however, you've deferred reporting the interest earned on your E/EE Bonds, you may continue to do so for up to 20 more years or until you redeem the HH Bond, whichever comes first. Or you can report the accumulated interest when you exchange your E/EE Bonds for HH Bonds.

County keeps winning tradition alive

Continuing a pursuit for excellent service to the community, Lake County has earned two national awards from the National Association of Counties (NACo).

These national award recipients are chosen annually based on the programming they offer to their county residents.

This year, awards were earned for the following programs: The Education Based Food Protection Program of the Lake County Health Dept. and the Training Institute of the Private Industry Council.

Chairman Robert Depke accepted the awards this year at the annual conference, in Houston.

"Once, again, the county's hard work has paid off," Depke said. "It's always an honor to see our efforts validated nationally."

The Education Based Food Protection program was created to respond to the increasing amount of food-borne illnesses that have been occurring in the past 20 years.

The objective of this program was to reduce the incidence of food-borne illnesses.

'Once again, the county's hard work has paid off. It's always an honor to see our efforts validated nationally.'

Robert Depke,
Chairman

This was reached by educating food handlers about the importance of time/temperature control of potentially hazardous foods and explaining about the prevention of cross-contamination and proper hand washing/hygiene practices.

The Private Industry Council Training Institute was developed to help adults complete their GEDs and receive their diplomas.

The program was specifically constructed to meet the unique needs of adults concerned with day care, budget planning, parenting skills and career planning while they were earning their GED.

This program offers high school dropouts the "second chance" they need.

Larry Naake, executive director of NACo, said he was pleased with the high caliber of the county programs and projects.

Since the NACo Achievement Award Program inception in 1970, Lake County has won 217 awards.

Housing Authority Board elects officers

At its annual meeting, the Board of Commissioners of the Housing Authority of the County of Lake, elected Sten Swanson of Wauconda as its chairman. Swanson has been a board member since 1991 and served as vice chairman for five years. In addition to his service on the Housing Authority board, he is the retired financial secretary of Local 20 of the Bricklayers Union, Bangs Lake Management Committee member and a member of Transfiguration Church in Wauconda.

The board also elected Fred Gablenz of Grayslake as its vice-chairman. Gablenz has been a resident of Grayslake since 1974 and is a member of Shepherd of the Lakes Church. Gablenz has served on the Housing Authority Board since 1991.

Vanderventer headquarters to open

Recorder of Deeds candidate Mary Ellen Vanderventer will hold the grand opening of her campaign headquarters on Saturday, Sept. 7 from 9 to 11 a.m. at 830 Glen Flora Avenue, Waukegan. This corner building was formerly known as CBS Realty.

Vanderventer states "I am thrilled to have our headquarters open just after Labor Day. Having a central office where volunteers can coordinate activities and voters can come for information is very important to all of us. I cordially invite the public to attend the grand opening to enjoy refreshments. Our headquarters has an easy phone number which ties directly into the theme of the election. It is 249-DEED (3333).

NOW AT A STATION NEAR YOU.

Introducing Metra's North Central Service.

Metra's new North Central Service is big news for residents in Lake and northern Cook counties. Initial train service consists of four weekday inbound and outbound trains serving ten communities between Antioch and Chicago's Union Station, plus a transfer stop at O'Hare International Airport, Remote Parking Lot E.

The North Central Service is ideal for customers who travel to downtown Chicago during regular business hours. For customers with only morning business, an early afternoon train departure is also available. To ensure service flexibility during midday and evening hours, Pace provides supplemental bus service that links stations along the North Central Service with three other Metra rail lines.

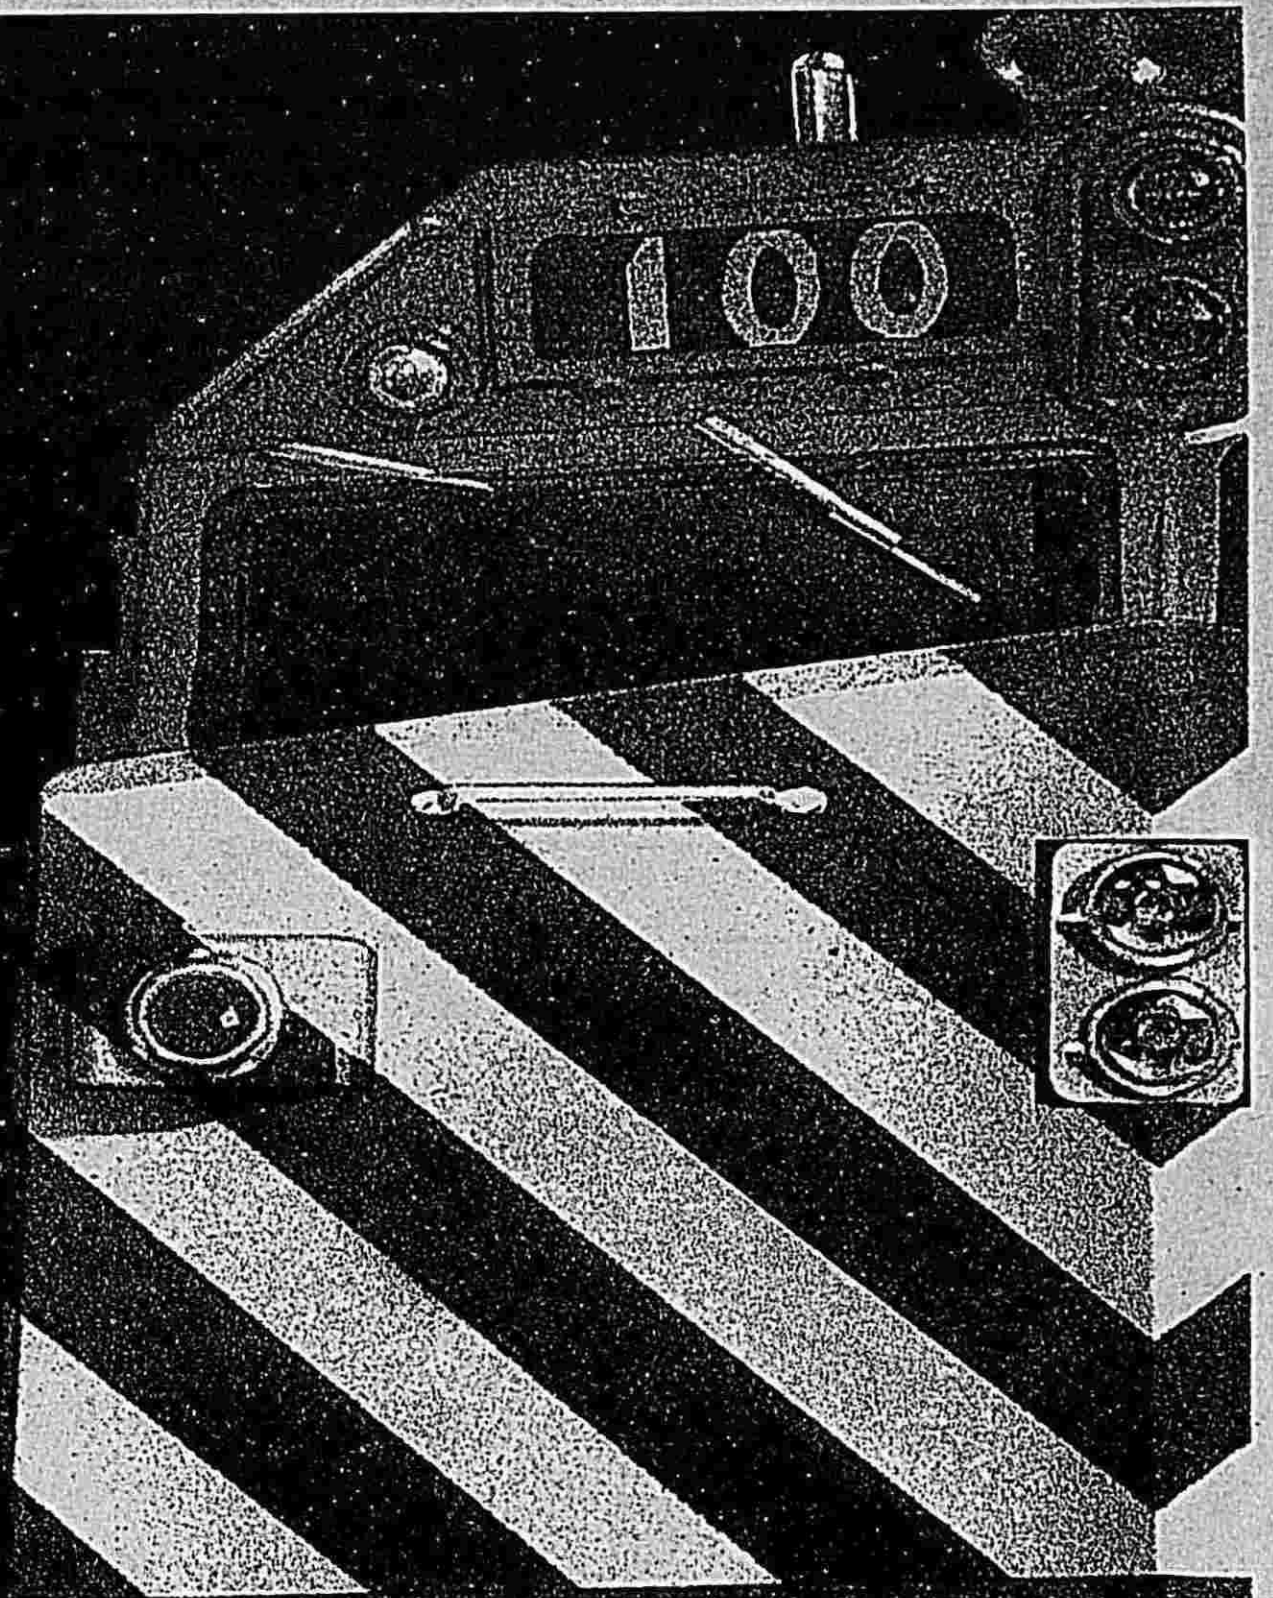

Request your copy of Metra's "North Central Service Rider's Guide," which details station and parking information, train and bus schedules, fares and ticket programs.

Bucks for Brett fund will be given away to save lives

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Giving away money may be more difficult than raising it.

At least Steve Gurevitz and Jeanne Baird are prepared for a major challenge in their lives—seeing that $211,433.77 is given to persons in need who face a life-threatening future.

The money represents donations and interest earned for a fund established more than 10 years ago for Brett Wethington, a handsome little boy with a winning personality in need of a liver transplant.

Brett's family eventually was able to cover the cost of a $150,000 liver transplant with insurance and family resources. Contributions totaling $160,000, most of them coming in small denominations from sympathetic Lake County residents, were banked and allowed to earn interest. "We want the money to go where it will do the most good. Every penny," asserted Gurevitz, 64, who taught machine shop courses at Lake County Vocation Center

Gurevitz, a resident of unincorporated Wauconda, and Baird, now retired and residing in Pell Lake, Wis., near Lake Geneva, are teaming up again to give away Bucks for Brett contributions. They have enlisted the aid of a key member of their original team, banker Ralph Zicco, to administer a screening process and distribution.

The criteria for eligibility is simple, Gurevitz stated. Anyone suffering a catastrophic illness or in need of an organ transplant will be considered. Evidence of need and self help will be required.

"We haven't seen each other for a long time, but it's like yesterday that we were working day and night to raise money for Brett," remarked Baird, who said a booth in the Wauconda Pizza Hut she managed during the summer of 1983 was the command post for fund raising.

They didn't know it at the time, but Gurevitz and Baird became pioneers in the organ donor awareness movement.

"People misunderstood the whole program. Some of them called us ghouls," recalled Baird, an energetic grandmother who considers approval by the U.S. Postal Service of a donor awareness stamp started with the Brett campaign unfinished business. "I'm still working on it," Baird said optimistically.

Convention electrifies Democratic Party

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Regional Editor

For Lake County Democrats, having the Democratic Convention in Chicago is like having it in your backyard.

And Lake County Democrat leaders hope the electricity generated from the Chicago convention will continue to spark excitement within the fledgling party in Lake County, where the Democrats have historically taken a back seat to the Republicans.

Lakeland Newspapers caught up with Lake County Democrat Chairman Terry Link while he listened to various speakers at the United Center on opening night.

Link was in attendance as an alternate delegate. The Vernon Hills resident also happens to be running on the Democrat ticket for state senator in the 30th District.

A number of Illinois delegates hailed from Lake County including Waukegan Township Supervisor Patricia Jones, Karen Rydberg of Lindenhurst, and Ron Powell of Mundelein who heads the United Food Commercial Workers.

After Link attended a gala farewell for retiring Sen. Paul Simon at the stately Drake Hotel, he raced to the United Center where Lakeland Newspapers he reflected about the Democratic Party nationally and locally.

NETWORKING

Link was quick to point out that one of his goals during the convention in Chicago was to network for his state senate campaign as well as for the party in Lake County.

Between breakfasts, luncheons and dinner parties, Link had a full slate of receptions to attend, though he said he avoided the costly political fund-raisers.

"We've been talking to other political leaders, getting advice, and, of course, talking to contributors," Link said. "We're gaining a lot for my campaign. It's a great learning experience."

As for being party chairman in Lake County, Link said he has been in contact with numerous party soldiers, volunteers and prospective party people.

"We're building enthusiasm and generating a lot of interest in the (political) process," Link said. "We're getting people worked up into a frenzy, where we want them to be as we begin campaigning over the next 60 days."

paingning over the next 60 days."

RON BROWN FACTOR

Following a touching memorial to Ron Brown, who orchestrated the last Democratic Convention that nominated and helped elect Gov. Bill Clinton to President Clinton, Link noted that Brown's spirit was still alive in the United Center and in the Party.

Brown, who was appointed Secretary of Commerce, died in a plane crash while on a mission to open more U.S. markets in Europe.

Delegates: Clinton not perfect, but best hope

On one thing Democrats seem to agree: Clinton may not be perfect, but he offers the best hope for the future of America.

KANSANS REACT

"The Democratic Party is increasingly becoming a pro-business party," said Kansas delegate and small business owner Richard J. Wurtz, at his first presidential convention. "I have seen a drastic change in the attitude of the Democratic Party to be more sensitive to the needs of business people and in particular small business owners."

Wurtz, who says Republican presidential contender Bob Dole, a native of Kansas, is not nearly as popular in his home state as many Americans might believe, said a presidential primary in Kansas would likely have been an embarrassment to the Dole campaign.

"He's a Washington insider, not a Kansan," Wurtz said.

Other members of the Kansas delegation, all of who were clad in wide-brim straw hats with flashing red letters, echoed Wurtz' statements. "The Buchanan forces were very strong in Kansas," said James R. Bergfauk. "PACs are Dole's constituents."

"We support Clinton because we know Bob Dole," quipped Kansas Delegate Diane Taylor of Topeka.

For Delegate Susan Cofer, the Democratic party is the party that represents women.

"The Republican party is hostile to women," said Cofer. "They offer nothing for women—to me it's black and white. The Republicans can parade all the 'Marsha Brady look-alikes' across the stage of their convention that they want, but that doesn't mean they support women's issues." Cofer said the issues of pro-choice, equal opportunity and health care are the most important to her and her female peers.

Bergfauk believes the key to the campaign will be that each candidate has a Washington record to run on.

"I'd stack Bill Clinton's four years in Washington against Bob Dole's 25 years and See DELEGATES page B3

Crusin' the halls at the Democratic National Convention proves to be a lesson in what is right with America and what is wrong.

Talking to delegates from around the nation gives differing views to their reasons for supporting the Democratic Party and Bill Clinton, an often controversial President.

introducing legislation broadening donor awareness efforts. He prizes letters from President Ronald Reagan and Governor Jim Thompson supporting the Brett drive and organ donor awareness.

"A lot of the donations came from posters in local taverns and businesses. People were drawn to little Brett. Some psychics held a party at a Libertyville restaurant. One donation came from Scotland. A little old lady sent in a dollar. She said it was all she could afford." remembered Steve.

The fund drive received a big jump from a $20,000 anonymous contribution. "God was with us all the way," assert Gurevitz, who said his own recent health problems triggered a desire to make sure the Brett contributions go to deserving persons.

Gurevitz suffers from complications of diabetes.

Over the years, Gurevitz has authorized fund releases to four families. Two families facing a organ transplant experience declined monetary gifts, "but they put our find raising experience to good use," Gurevitz stated.

Gurevitz learned of Brett's plight when his father, Ed, described his son's illness when they were members of a bowling league. Steve, a village trustee then in Wauconda, said he discussed fund raising with fellow board members.

"They encouraged me, but I realized if anything was going to happen it would be up to me," he explained.

Gurevitz and Baird have been in touch with the Wethingtons, who now reside in Round Lake Beach. "They agree that it's time to give the money away."

Brett had one liver transplant, but died after a second transplant failed.

Trustees OK annexation

GURNEE—Gurnee trustees approved the annexation of 41 acres for a long-time developer, but not before it took a vote from Mayor Richard Welton.

LAKE COUNTY

Welton voted yes to approve the annexation agreement between the village and Westfield Homes. Westfield plans to have an 82-single family home subdivision on 41.1 acres at Dilley's and Stearns School Roads. Trustees Robert Amaden and Tracie Bullock voted against the annexation. Because five votes are necessary, Welton had to vote.

"They met all the village ordinances and regulations. It would have been inappropriate not to approve them," Welton said.

Brian Harris, president of Westfield Homes defended the firm's commitment to quality and Gurnee.

"We are committed to developing a quality product. We have built 2,000 homes in Gurnee since the 1980s," Brian Harris, Westfield Homes president, said. —by STEVE PETERSON

Driver surrenders

GRAYSLAKE—Thomas A. Clark, 37, has surrendered in connection with the Grayslake hit and run accident involving a bicyclist. Police located a 1985 Lincoln Town Car in Clark's garage at 18693 Ash St. Grandwood Park, which had a damaged front end and broken windshield and matched evidence from the scene of the accident. They impounded the car the evening of Aug. 21. Clark called the Grayslake police the next morning at 11 a.m. turning himself in. Bicyclist Nathan Ovitt, 21, of Mundelein was hit by the vehicle while riding his bike along Rte. 45 after midnight, Aug. 1.

Koletsos said Clark was charged with failure to report a personal injury accident, failure to transfer a motor vehicle title, no valid registration and no insurance.

Police believe Clark kept the car hid until he could get auto parts to service the vehicle which were on order when they located the car. They also have reason to believe once he fixed the car he was going to sell it.

Clark was released on a personal recognizance bond and at this time there are no other charges against him according to Koletsos. Ovitt could pursue a civil suit if he chose to. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Man dies in repair mishap

ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP—Steve Walpole, 39, 25047 Palmer Court, was killed from injuries sustained when he fell from a free-standing scaffolding while working at his home, according to Lake County Sheriff's Department. Walpole apparently fell approximately 20-25 onto a concrete walkway on his head. He was doing some caulking. He was found by a neighbor who called Antioch Rescue Squad. The accident occurred about 9 a.m. Aug. 24. He taken to St. Therese Hospital where he was pronounced dead by the emergency room physician. He is survived by his wife, Cecelia, and three children aged 5, 3 and 1. —by ALEC JUNG

State helo hunts criminals

GRAYSLAKE—A couple of roaming criminals brought the Illinois State Police Air One helicopter to Grayslake Aug. 22, after they fled police in two separate instances in the vicinity of Routes 45 and 120. Jeffrey Collon 34, of Waukegan and Mario Wilson, 28, of Palatine were both taken into custody following the incidents in which they initially gave false identities to police.

Wilson was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance and resisting arrest. He was turned over to the Waukegan Police Department to aid in their burglary investigation.

Collon was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance, felony unlawful use of a weapon, resisting arrest, possession of stolen property, possession of drug paraphernalia (a crack cocaine pipe) and criminal damage to village property (he tore out a light fixture in the holding cell ceiling).

Following discovery of their true identities they both received additional charges. Collon had a warrant out for his arrest from the Waukegan Police Department for criminal trespass and a warrant from the Wisconsin Department of Parole for sexual assault and violation of parole.

Wilson had a warrant out for his arrest from Hanover Park for a traffic violation and a warrant from McHenry County for crimes against a person. An additional charge of one count each was given for felony obstruction for giving police false names. Collon, since he was on parole also received a charge of felony possession of a firearm. —STAFF REPORT

LHS makes the grade

LIBERTYVILLE—Although Libertyville High School is becoming more and more crowded in the wake of a failed referendum, administrators do have something to celebrate. The composite ACT scores for 1996 have surpassed their neighboring schools. At 24.1, the school squeaked by Stevenson, who recorded their highest composite score ever (24.0), and beat out Carmel (22.5) and Mundelein (21.9).

"The level of excellence among all these schools is admirable," said Barb Schneider, public relations director at LHS. "We've been able to overcome a great hurdle because our teaching staff is so excellent and so adaptable." —by SUZIE REED

FOX LAKE—Congressman Philip Crane (R-8), up for re-election in November, was greeted by a number of guests both from near and far at the Fox Lake Area Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday. Molli Larson, a resident of Round Lake, and community activist attended the event. "He's a wonderful public speaker and everytime I hear him speak, I hear something new both about him and what's going on in Washington," said Larson. Residents feel slighted

ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP—Many Antioch Township officials are up in arms over the Fox Waterway Agency's refusal to apply for a state water quality grant on Lake Catherine. Lake County Board Member Judi Martini is incensed the grant wasn't applied for. She claims the paperwork is ready and all that was needed was a vote by agency directors. She said the study should be the start of a management plan for all the lakes in Chain. Carol Jonites of the United Homeowners Association said she felt betrayed by agency officials who reportedly told her they would support the grant this year. William Liniewicz, an agency advisory board member, said the decision was short-sighted. Chairman William Dam said the directors felt there were already enough projects the agency was working on. He said they felt there the Karen Kabbes, executive director, and staff didn't have sufficient time to apply for the grant and monitor if it was received. —by ALEC JUNG

choose Clinton as a winner," said Berghauf. "These are two people who have had an opportunity to demonstrate what they can do."

YOUNG, OLD

The oldest delegate at the convention was Velma Jater, 93, of Texas who was first a delegate to a convention which nominated Franklin Delanor Roosevelt for president.

"I feel he has been very fair in his appointments," said Jater. "He has tried to equalize them—he has appointed women, men, young and older and individuals of color."

Two of the younger delegates to the convention, Hillary Hunt, 21, of Washington and Chris Groener, 25, of Oregon said the Democratic Party offers more hope to Americans of all ages.

"The Republicans want to take Big Bird away from 5-year-olds, school lunches away from 10-year-olds, summer jobs away from 15-year-olds and college loans away from 20-year-olds," said Hunt.

Groener says Clinton has used his veto pen wisely. "He did sign the welfare reform act but, he vetoed it several times to make it a better bill than it was," Groener said. "He has kept 66 percent of his promises, I think that is a good record."

DIVERSITY

For many delegates to the convention, the diversity of the party is obvious but not surprising.

With the youngest delegate a mere 19-years-of age and the oldest 93, voices of all Americans are likely to be heard.

"We are the party of America," said Harvey Brooks of Washington. "The mix of people you find here is the same as you might find at any other event being held at the United Center where it was a concert or a basketball game—they are people of all colors, creeds and ages and all income levels in the Democratic Party—we are the party of the people."

Brooks and fellow Washington delegate lawyer Jesse Wineberry, both African-Americans, said the Republicans strived too hard to show their diversity to the television audience.

"I watched it every night," said Wineberry. "It seemed like they were showing the same women and people of color each day."

Brooks says despite the diversity of the Democratic Party, it still has a long way to go.

"The party is very inclusive, but it can be a lot better, much better, we have to recognize the importance of all Americans in being involved in the election process," Brooks said.

Both Washington delegates said support of technology and education were the key ingredients to a successful platform for the Democrats.

"The Republicans slash support for education and the Democrats build it up," said Wineberry. "We need to give access to computer technology to all families in America and we need to ensure students are given computer training in schools. Before the Clinton-Gore administration the ratio of computers to students in schools was 1:16 now it's 1:8."

THE CAMPAIGN

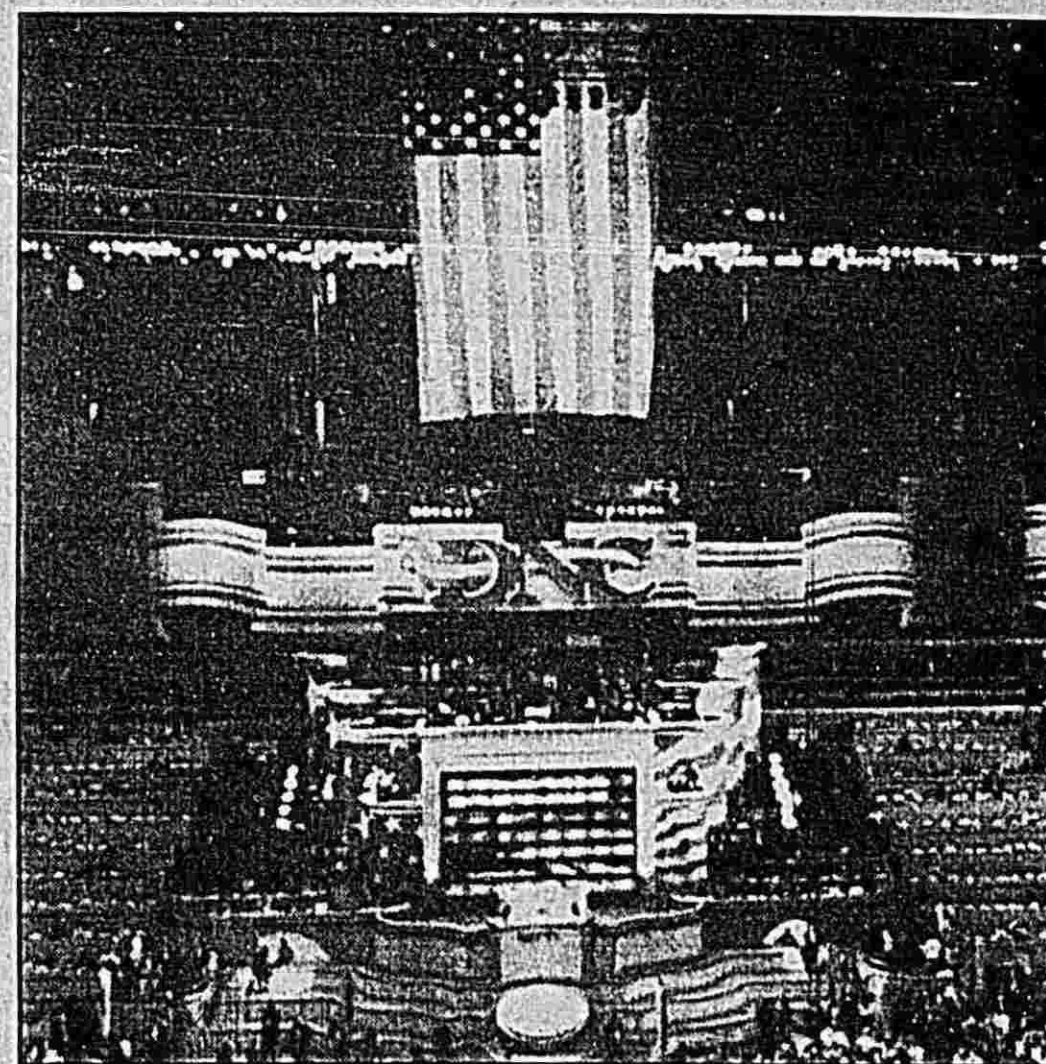

For delegates who attended the 1992 convention, the rally around an incumbent president brought a different feeling to the convention.

"We won't have any floor fights and making-up in the hallways at this convention," said

Brooks. "It takes people time to get motivated behind a candidate following the convention. We already have a jump on that."

"In 1992 we had a tough job ahead of us," said Susan Cofer.

"Now, we can run on a record, which we feel has been a good record. We still have to get out there and work, I'm not saying it's 'no contest' but it won't be the same battle."

The floor of the Democratic National Convention at the United Center in Chicago.

Transit line has broader meaning

There was so much speech making before the inaugural run of new Metra North Central Service that it is impossible to distill all the laudatory rhetoric into a few sentences or even a few paragraphs.

Politicians and transit officials, to be sure, made the most of the opportunity to commemorate the historic Antioch to Chicago link on Wisconsin Central. The oratory at Antioch and stops at Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Mundelein, Vernon Hills and several other points was fitting and appropriate.

Metra Chairman Jeff Ladd, while acknowledging significant federal monetary contributions, drew a telling comparison between purely Washington, D.C. Beltway-driven government and what people can accomplish with locally-driven government. While Amtrak, the federally operated rail system is closing stations, Ladd proudly asserted that "Metra is opening stations." Reflecting on North Central start-up funds generated at the state and local level, Ladd declared, "Hands on is more important than hand outs."

Now that 70-year drought has been broken in establishment of new rail transit links in the Chicago metro area, other new lines could follow. There already is talk for extension of the Fox Lake line to Spring Grove-Richmond and Wisconsin, and providing a link from Lake County on the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern freight line through Barrington to the Elgin area.

Road warriors take note! A new look in commuting definitely is unfolding.

Awaken to varied flooding patterns

Dogged persistence on the part of Grant Township environmentalists that west Lake County deserves separate consideration because of natural differences finally is getting noticed by Lake County building and zoning officials.

Because of a large number of lakes, protected wetlands and interlocking drainage systems, environmental activists long have argued that it is unfair and inappropriate to apply broadly a single county building and zoning code. Silting characteristics and erosion problems, for example, are much different in the DesPlaines River than in the Chain O'Lakes and the sprawling Squaw Creek drainage system, the largest in the county, that is a tributary to the Fox River.

The county's release rate, a technical measurement for discharge from stormwater detention ponds, is outdated and inadequate for the highly impacted lakes and wetlands areas of northwest Lake County, which now are facing development, familiar high density residential construction in vogue for a number of years.

Environmentalists have pointed out federal guidelines and some enlightened municipalities are using release standards that effectively double the county rate. Adherence to the stiffer standards means that developers have to lower densities, provide for larger detention areas or employ a combination of both.

As Suzanne Harris, co-chair of the Impact Coalition of West Lake County, a flooding watchdog and lobby group for lower density housing development, put it to members of the county's zoning and building committee, "You can't build the same ways in west Lake County as in other areas of the county."

Pamela Newton of the committee admitted that there is "room for improvement" on the part of county building administration and code enforcement. Carol Spielman admitted that "drawing of distinctions" is in order. Chairman Dick Raftis made perhaps the most telling observation of all. Raftis said the county "ought to be planning for the worst" and make changes.

Yes, it can be said that County Board members are beginning to look at flooding problems and potential flooding in a different light.

County doc outlines path to happiness

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Take it from an old country doctor, life has a lot to offer. "Enjoy life. Be active. Most people are good. Restrict your food intake. Take care of our country."

Those cryptic words of advice come from "Doc Gosh," Dr. Gaspar A. Goshgarian, in his prime one of Lake County's leading family medical practitioners.

These days Dr. Goshgarian keeps busy tending a variety of growing things that adorn his stately home fronting on Highland Lake off Washington St. Does he have help with his gardening? "Oh, yes. I do about half of my yard work," added the physician who was the county's one-man health department for a time more than a half century ago.

The native of Waukegan has a remarkable number of hobbies. He still follows all of them except golf, "my weakness." An outing was held recently in his honor to benefit caddies. He was presented a new dictionary, "the most important book in the English language."

Doc chuckled. "My brother said that was the only thing I needed." His vigor belies an 86th birthday coming in November.

Dr. Goshgarian tended patients for more than 40 years at Victory Memorial Hospital, St. Therese Hospital and an office in Round Lake. When he was fresh out of medical school, he said the doctors told him to "go to Round Lake because they don't have a doctor." He became a revered figure, a civic leader who helped found a local bank and raised four children, three sons, who all are prominent Lake County residents, and a daughter, Julie, who now resides in a Milwaukee suburb. He was widowed 16 years ago.

The sons marvel at their father's energy. It's a family trait. Their grandfather came from native Armenia to work in a steel mill in Massachusetts and co-founded a foreign language newspaper, later bringing his family to Waukegan when his steel mill job was relocated. Sons are Dave, a west Lake County real estate broker; Dr. Gerry, an orthopedic surgeon with offices in Gurnee, and Circuit Court Judge John, who resides in rural Round Lake.

Doc Gosh regaled a group of retired businessmen at a 7 a.m. breakfast meeting with tales of Lake County of 50 years ago and pithy comments on life. He already had a 5:30 a.m. breakfast of mixed fruit and a cup of "strong Armenian coffee."

Sporting a crisp white shirt and necktie overlaid by his trademark safari jacket, the veteran medical man marveled at how the life expectancy of Americans has been extended 16 years during his lifetime. He said the average American male lived to about 55 when he began his career in medicine, women a few years longer.

Halting from time to time to organize his thoughts, Dr. Goshgarian noted how every generation has to deal with an overriding medical problem. As a young doctor, the scourge was tuberculosis. Before the Depression era, pneumonia took countless lives. Then it was polio. Now AIDS confounds the medical world.

He said today's biggest health problem is "eating too much." Always mindful of the community's best interests, Doc Gosh recommends moderation in diet and exercise. He follows his own advice, constantly rearranging and adding to his plant collection. Dr. Goshgarian also is an avid reader. Good health springs from sunshine, pure water, clean air and the good earth, he said.

Four score years hasn't dimmed a lively sense of humor. He related how police once mistook him for a bank robbery suspect because "I had parked my car in the bank lot talking to a friend," and how a golf hustler forked over the price of a new car (a $2,600 sedan) after failing to surpass the avid golfer. "He kept pushing and pushing," the retired physician added with a wink.

To illustrate how times have changed, Dr. Goshgarian recalled that he was paid a $1 or $2 for an office call when he first hung out his shingle. He said a 10 day hospital stay ran $35 for a semi-private room. Private rooms were $5 per day.

Doc Gosh has been around the world, but he regards Lake County his garden spot. "I can't imagine a more wonderful place," he intoned. "The thing is that we have to take care of our county, our nation and our planet."

Benefits of upgrade

Editor:

Is the campaign to abolish the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority a proxy war over controversial plans to extend Illinois Highway 53 north and south? If so, the disputed issues—routes, environmental impact, and designs of interchanges and toll plazas—should be negotiated now, before made-up minds make resolution impossible.

There are precedents for this. Initial plans for the Kennedy Expressway would have required demolition of St. Stanislaus Kostka Church on Chicago's near northwest side but a compromise spared the historic church. The North Western Ry, agreed to relocate its tracts to the east, leaving room to construct the Kennedy curve around the church.

The map of the Interstate Highway System show plenty of curves too, so politically, a straight line is not always the best way to go from Point A to Point B.

In Lake County, perhaps stretches of Illinois Highway 83 could be upgraded to become parts of Illinois Highway 53. Parts See LETTERS page B5

PARTY LINES

Demo delegates show off their diversity

Party lines, Lakeland Newspapers' column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Security to the Democratic National Convention was tight on opening night as the City of Chicago embraced its first national party convention since the troublesome 1968 affair.

Countless seats in the pristine United Center remained open, with many delegates arriving for the event after attending bashes for retiring party leaders such as Sen. Paul Simon. That's where Lake County Democratic leaders Terry Link, Patricia Jones, Ron Mollano III and Karen Rydberg were hanging out before arriving at the convention around 7:30 p.m.

The most popular speaker of the opening evening was actor Christopher Reeves, who urged the party to pledge more financial support for spinal cord injury research.

Interesting quotes from delegates, especially those from Kansas, suggested Bob Dole remains out-of-touch with the American people despite shedding his Senatorial office.

"We have a saying in Kansas," said Susan Cofer, attending her second convention as a delegate. "If Bob Dole is in town, it's for a photo opportunity—we always tell him to go home to Florida, that is where he spends his time."

Other delegates remarked at the obvious diversity of the party easily seen when strolling the halls of the United Center. "The Republicans have to show their diversity with well-planned television shots," said Harvey Brooks, a Washington delegate. "Here just look around you and you see young, old, and people of all colors."

The oldest delegate was 83-year-old Velma Jater of Texas. She was first a delegate for FDR. Among her reasons for supporting Bill Clinton: "He's a Christian," she said. Maybe not first in the minds of most Americans when thinking of their commander-in-chief, but a valid reason, no less.

A historic note for political watchers—if Clinton is successful in being elected for a second term, he will be the first Democrat since Franklin D. Roosevelt to do so.

A big challenge, indeed.

Inside track—As far as friends of Evelyn Alexander are concerned, there won't be much fuss over who will succeed Bobby Thompson as mayor of North Chicago. Thompson's long-time assistant is interested in both succeeding her boss and making history as the first woman to serve as mayor of North Chicago. Thompson won't seek re-election when his current term ends next year.

Where money goes—Democratic fund raisers have their priorities set for recipients of campaign contributions.

State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash gets first call, Mary Ellen Vanderventer gets second consideration in her bid to succeed Republican Frank Nustra as Lake County recorder of deeds, and county party chairman Terry Link will get remaining funds in his race against State Rep. Tom Lachner (R-Lake Bluff) for the Shore Line seat of retiring State Senator David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest).

More golf—The Lake County Chiefs of Police Team has scheduled a golf outing for Tuesday, Sept. 17, to help underwrite expenses to further the cause of law enforcement cooperation and coordination like the Mayor Crimes Task Force. Mundelein Police Chief Ray Rose has accepted the responsibility of rounding up players and sponsors.

Family reunion—State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove), who also serves in the dual role of Vernon Township supervisor, has been getting high fives all around for his arrangements for a rousing welcome to start-up computer service on Wisconsin Central Rail tracks.

Peterson made a special effort to invited long-time residents to be on hand for festivities when the inaugural train stopped in Prairie View. "It was like a family reunion," one long-time resident gushed.

Sometimes an answer from a village official does not satisfy a developer's need. Such is the case in Lake Zurich, where representatives of a trust have tried to build a 4-lot shopping center on a parcel that only has room for two lots, due to wetlands and conservancy soils. The developer in question appeared before village board members at a committee meeting this week, again asking for the four lots.

Village Administrator John F. Dixon was flabbergasted, saying they have held "so many meetings over two years" with the same outcome.

Board members went along with a plan commission recommendation to recommend a two-lot subdivision, set for approval next week.

Ready for November: Al Westerman, the Lake County Board

Westerman

Republican nominee in Dist. 7, is glad he will apparently not be facing any opposition in the race to replace Robert Depke. He said he can now concentrate on getting ready for the county board, as Gurnee trustee Mark Ratfelders dropped out of the race. Still, Westerman and his friends marched in the Gurnee Days parade.

Think of the benefits. Political leaders who choose to negotiate could earn voter support and might even be hailed as heroes. Extensions could serve motorists sooner; costly court fights could be avoided; and the environment could be safeguarded.

Of course, the state has the power to stab the heart of Lake County with a six-lane sword of concrete, regardless of what anyone thinks, but the risk is alienation of large numbers of voters.

Politicians know this could be costly. "Antis" are more highly motivated to vote than "pros." In a closely contested election, that could spell the difference between victory and defeat for any candidate perceived as pro-extension.

So let's hope political leaders come to their senses and get negotiations underway A.S.A.P.

Backs Salvi for beliefs

Editor:

Your August 2 column, which insinuated that ethnic groups such as mine or anyone else's tend to vote for candidates based on their ethnic background instead of their platforms and credentials, was a disservice to Italian-Americans who support Al Salvi.

I am a first-generation Italian-American, but a shared cultural heritage is not why I support Al Salvi for the U.S. Senate. I will vote for Al Salvi because he agrees with me that taxes are too high. I favor Al Salvi because he favors less government, welfare reform, term limits, and tougher sanctions on drug dealers and other criminal. I support Al Salvi because he stands for the things that his opponent, Dick Durbin, does not.

I vote for candidates based upon their beliefs, not their last names. Most people are the same way. If Italian-Americans around Chicago are crossing political lines to vote for Al Salvi, it's probably because they trust him to represent Illinois in the U.S. Senate.

Gash tuned to vets

Editor:

State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash has shown herself to be very concerned and attentive to the needs of veterans and their families, and she is tuned to veterans organizations as an important source of information. Three very important areas of legislation that were sponsored or supported in the Illinois General Assembly by Lauren Beth were: education opportunities for veterans and their families; preventing work discrimination against veterans; and penalizing phony's who falsely represent themselves as veterans to obtain veterans' preferences or benefits.

As a veteran and a citizen living in Lauren Beth Gash's District, I'm proud to have her as my representative. It would be great if every citizen in Illinois had a representative as dynamic and as dedicated to the service of their people, as Lauren Beth is.

Put Safety first

Editor:

My son is about to start kindergarten this year and instead of savoring these last few moments of fleeting babyhood I am in the library researching state law and talking to the school board, trying to understand why they think it is safe for my baby to walk to school one and a half miles. This across a dangerous railway crossing where the sidewalk ends. Where the railroad track crosses the street at such an acute angle the walking space is sometimes only a foot wide. Where the space between rails and asphalt is waiting to grab a little shoe and turn a little ankle. Where there is no marked path to follow, no white lines, and a steep grade that must be navigated in order to reach the safe haven of the sidewalk far on the other side. The big white "X" for railroad painted on the street has faded to a faint shadow that can barely be seen if full sunlight.

This is the gauntlet my son has to run. He is no longer a baby, his innocence is ending and this is just one of the many obstacles he will face in his life. I feel mixed emotions about his start. I am excited thinking of the many wonderful experiences he will have and friends he will make during his school career. Part of me knows he is growing fast and I need to stand back and watch him grow. Part of me wants to wrap him up in my arms and freeze this moment in time.

I am lucky to have luxuries other mothers don't have. The time to go in and get to know my son's teacher. The time to volunteer skills to help in the classroom, and of course the time to drive him to and from school when he needs it. And he will need it unless the dangerous railroad crossing has some major safety improvements made on it. I don't know who is responsible to make these improvements. District 46 says it is safe despite the fact that a Metra passenger train passes by at 2:30 p.m., right when first through third graders get out of school and would be walking home. A freight train loaded with gravel could roar through this crossing at any time because these don't have a fixed schedule.

This is a special time, a milestone in the life of every child and every mother. Both of us will face new challenges this year. I'm sorry that the railroad track and the 1.5 mile walk are part of them. I would rather spend the time reminiscing about when my son was a baby and being amazed at how quickly he has grown up then arguing about whether it is safe for five year olds to walk to school through all these hazards—and how he will make it with snow on the ground. District 46 doesn't care how he makes it. Maybe somebody out there will. I'll keep trying to make someone understand how scary it is. I have to, simply because I am his mother and I have no other choice.

Colors create spiritual feeling in Lachman's work

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

A wonderful addition has been added to Lake County since artist Al Lachman and his wife, Arlene, moved in last December, enriching the area with his haunting and expressive work that stays with a viewer long after they walk away from it.

The couple lives in a brick, Spanish style, split level home in Grayslake, which scarcely belies the treasures within. The living and dining room walls are lined with Lachman's most recent works, painted with expressively bright colors blurred into one another. Each of his paintings evoke a strong image and he strives to draw the viewer into his work, away from reality.

Lachman and his wife came here from Pennsylvania where they resided for 25 years; he grew up in the Bronx.

"We moved here because the Midwest was virtually unaffected by the recession," said Al. Another reason was they market all his work themselves through outdoor art shows, and the Midwest shows are a major market for his work.

Al has an affinity for outdoor art shows which he says are a phenomena limited to the United States.

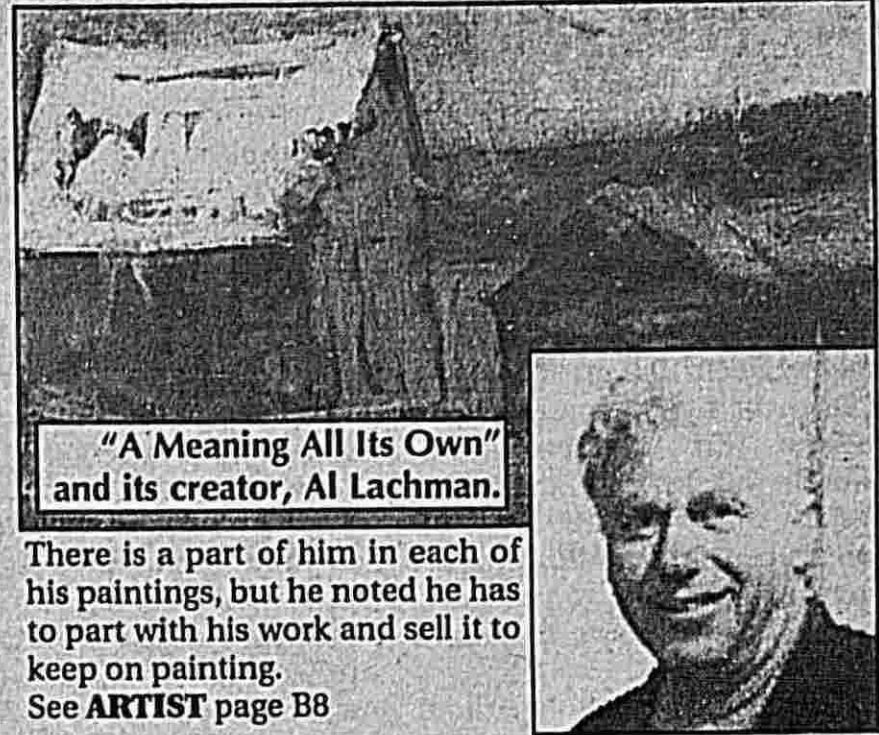

"This is a great moment in history where the average person can go and see art," he said. He believes this is a wonderful advantage, noting in most countries you have to go to a museum or a gallery to see art. "You can talk to the artist; it's a great place to go and spend a day."

"I only do the best shows that are highly competitive or juried," said Al. "Most people can't afford to buy art. We sell prints in some shows," he said. This makes them more affordable to the average person.

He explained most people and collectors buy his art on the spot.

"If you love it and can afford it walking away is a mistake," he said. "A painting if it touches you deeply and you can afford it- you should do it."

Al's paintings are done with acrylic and pastel mixes.

"A Meaning All Its Own" and its creator, Al Lachman.

There is a part of him in each of his paintings, but he noted he has to part with his work and sell it to keep on painting.

'Fall' into autumn fun at area events during apple season

SUZIE REED
Staff Reporter

It's the most basic of fruit, the symbol of good health, and the basis for innumerable tales, legends and "country" expressions.

As autumn approaches, so too does a taste for one of the thousands of varieties of apples. In Lake County, people have several opportunities to indulge that craving.

The largest orchard in Illinois lies along Gossell Rd. where Richard Breeden purchased 75 acres in 1951.

"He had a public relations business in Glenview and got tired of sitting at a desk," explained his wife Marge. He planted corn; it didn't work, so he planted apples and they grew like Topsy."

As Wauconda Orchards grew, so did the Breeden family. All five children pitched in and helped plant trees; son Rick currently manages the 120-acre orchard.

The apple season celebration begins Labor Day weekend with the 16th annual Applefest, featuring an arts and crafts show, pig roast, and hot air balloon display. Activities include horse drawn hayrides from noon to 4 p.m., musical entertainment all three days, and a beer and bratwurst pavilion from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 31 and Sept. 2. Kids' pony rides are from noon to 4 p.m. Sept. 1 and 2.

Country talent will feature Lee Murdoch's regional folk music from noon to 2 p.m. Aug. 31. On Sunday, the Easy Louise Band, a traditional favorite, will play two sets from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2:30 to 4 p.m., while Ronnie Rice is scheduled to make a special appearance from 1 to 2:30 p.m. On Labor Day, the Golden Prairie Bluegrass Band will be onstage from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Labor Day pig roast includes baked beans, sauerkraut, corn and the orchard's famous apple sauce. Prices are $8.50 for adults and $5 for children 10 and younger.

Harvestfest weekend activities will continue through Oct. 27, with hayrides, pony rides, a petting zoo, corn maze, Wisconsin bratwurst and beer from Mickey Finn's. Apple picking season has begun for Paula Reds and Galas. It will be time to gather Early Macintoshes around Sept. 12, Regular Macintoshes Sept. 19, Jonathans Sept. 26, Golden Delicious Oct. 3, and Red Delicious Oct. 10.

For more information on activities at Wauconda Orchards call 526-8553.

Not as large, but with a bit longer and more romantic history is Quig's on Rte. 83 in Mundelein. After purchasing 15 acres of apples trees in 1947, Bob Quig and his father Henry opened a roadside stand, selling apples of the bed of a truck. One of Bob's customers was Marion Radke, who became Mrs. Quig in 1955.

"Every year something has been added," said daughter Pam Berek, who manages the Country Store. "Next year will be our 50th year."

The store was added in 1954, a small restaurant followed in 1987 and was expanded in 1993. The complex also includes a green house and gift shop.

"When we originally started, people used to do a whole lot of canning, and come out and buy bushels and bushels of apples," said Berek. "Now people come out for just the family fun of it. They're looking for entertainment, a day in the country with fresh air."

Fall fun at Quig's includes Popeye & His Amazing Dog Olive Oyl from Tops Kennels Sept. 7, performances by the Lake County Folk Club Sept. 8 and 14, and a craft show in the greenhouse Sept. 21 and 22.

"It's our third season for the folk music, we think it just fits in," said Berek. "The craft show is a natural thing for the greenhouse, whatever the weather."

"The Hauntings of Apple

Valley" begin Oct. 11 and continue every Friday, Saturday and Sunday through Oct. 27, with a hayride in the haunted orchard, a visit to the haunted greenhouse, and a treasure "hunt."

"It's amazing what ideas you can come up with in a year," Berek said. "It's unbelievably fantastic!"

Quig's Country Bakery turns out hundreds of apple pies a week, said Berek. "Most of the time people can get a hot pie and go home with a smile," she added.

Quig's apple cider is made in their own pressing room, with no sugar or preservatives. It flavors everything from French toast to oatmeal to milkshakes, which taste like liquid apple pie a la mode, said Berek.

Picking season at Quig's began with Paula Reds; Macintoshes should be ready Sept. 5, Jonathans Sept. 19, Red Delicious and Early Golden Delicious Sept. 26, and Golden Delicious and Rome Beauty Oct. 3.

Quig's can be reached at 566-4520.

The apple season continues with the fourth annual Apple Fest in Long Grove Oct. 4, 5 and 6. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

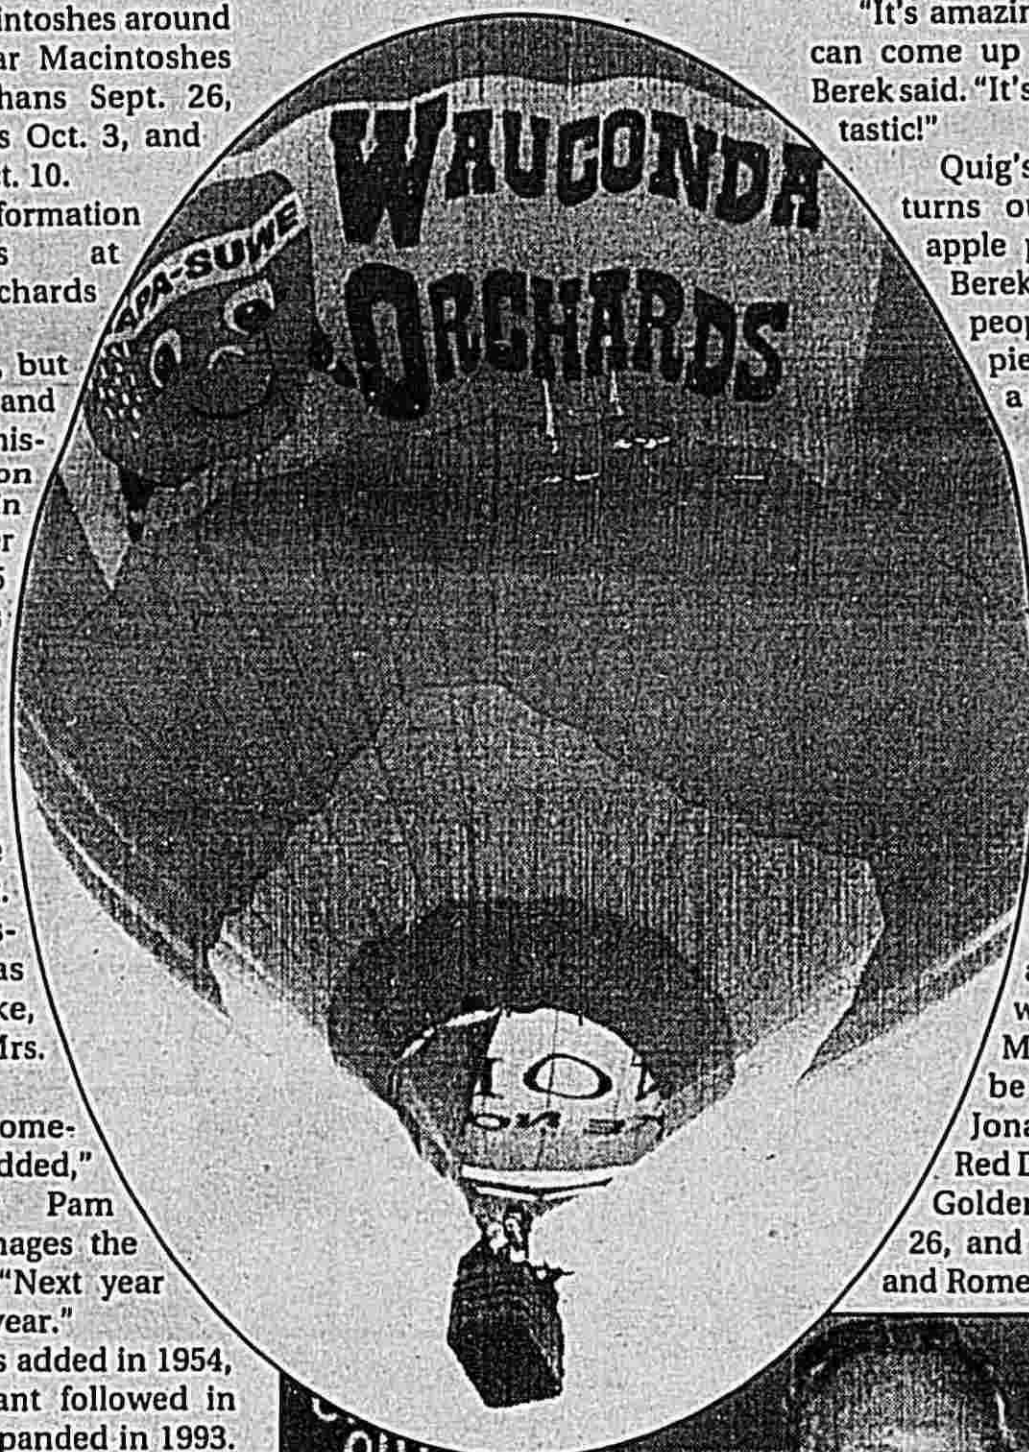

"They had a festival in the fall, 'Turn of the Century Days,'" said Janie Sills of Ruth Rashman Associates, who handles public relations for the Village Merchants Association. "They decided they wanted to celebrate the season, the harvest, and the farming roots of Long Grove."

"What better thing to highlight at that time of year than apples!" she added.

The fall festival was traditionally held right after Labor Day said Terry Duerling of the merchants' association, when a lot of other things were going on.

"We decided we did so well with the Strawberry Fest we would change the fruit and go with apple season," she explained. The apples are provided by a Michigan farmer.

Logic puzzle challenge set in Burlington, Wis. Sept. 7

Playing and solving logic and strategy puzzles can be fun and challenging. Families and individuals are invited to either the Saturday, Sept. 7 or Sept. 14 event at the non-profit Teacher Place and Parent Resources anytime between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. to give their gray matter a fun workout. Thirty different hands-on brain puzzles await, including modern and early 1900s parlor puzzles. An outstanding thinker award will be given to each participant who solves a certain number.

The one and one-half hour program has an admission of $3 per person if there is an adult in the group, with a 25 percent discount for groups of four or more. Children may attend without an adult if they are 8 years old or older and then admission of $6 each. Reservations are suggested.

The program is held at 533 Milwaukee Ave., Burlington, Wis. Call (414)763-3946 for further information.

All aboard!

Labor Day weekend, Aug. 31 through Sept. 2, is Railfan Weekend at the Illinois Railway Museum, the largest operating railway museum in the country. Train buffs, model railroaders, or anyone with an interest in transportation history, this is one event that you won't want to miss. Take your pick of steam trains, electric cars and trolleys, or diesel trains on all three days.

The last of the silver streamliners, the Burlington Zephyr, will run on Sunday and Monday. A steam engine built in 1918 will be pulling a train of vintage passenger cars. Also running on the museum's mainline will be a caboose train. Trolleys and electric cars from Chicago and surrounding areas will be in service.

Visitors may board any of the trains running at the depot dating from 1851 for a round trip ride on the five-mile mainline that travels through rural farmlands between Union and the Kishwaukee River.

The museum opens at 10 a.m. and visitors are welcome to use the picnic facilities and explore the collection of equipment. Starting out with one trolley car in 1953, the collection has grown to include more than 350 cars and locomotives. Moved to Union in 1964, IRM now has the largest and one of the most comprehensive collections of railroad artifacts in the nation.

Admission to the museum includes unlimited rides on operating equipment and admittance to all displays. Admission fees are $9 for adults and $7 for children ages 5 through 11 on special event day.

The not-for-profit Illinois Railway Museum is located in Union at 7000 Olson Rd., six miles northwest of Rte. 20 Marengo exit of the I-90 Northwest Tollway. For recorded information call, 1-800-BIG-RAIL, or call (815)923-4000.

Open house

Zion Park District's pre-school program, Kiddie Korner/Kindergarten Kapers, is sponsoring an open house on Tuesday, Sept. 3 from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Leisure Center-Kiddie Korner Room, 2400 Dowd Memorial Dr., Zion. This can be a perfect opportunity for all to meet the instructors and give parents and children a chance to meet the instructors and the facilities. For further information, call 746-5506.

Explore nature

Children ages 8 to 12 with an interest in nature are invited to expand their horizons in September through four classes offered by Stevenson High School's Patriot Recreation Education Program.

Classes on bird watching and insects will be held on Saturday, Sept. 21, while the weather and seeds will be covered on Saturday, Sept. 28. All classes will meet in room 6006 of Stevenson High School.

"Spiders, Ants and Flies, Oh My!" will be held on Saturday, Sept. 21 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Find out, up close and personal, the basics on insects, and why some are beneficial to man and some are harmful. The cost is $25, $20 for those registering by Sept. 20.

"Junior Bird Watchers," Saturday, Sept. 21 from noon to 1:30 p.m. Youngsters will learn about birds, how to watch them, how to use binoculars and how to attract birds to your yard. The cost is $16, and $13 for anyone registering by Sept. 20.

"Meteorology for Kids," Saturday, Sept. 28 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Why does it rain? Why doesn't it snow in summer? Should you be afraid of thunder? Find out the answers to those and other questions for $16, $13 for those registering by Sept. 20.

"Discover Edible Seeds," Saturday, Sept. 28 from noon to 1:30 p.m. Look at the seeds we eat (peanuts, walnuts, etc.), seeds that smell good (cloves, etc.), seeds we add to our food to make it taste better (pepper, cumin, dill, etc.) and seeds in the wild. The cost is $12.50, or $10 for those signing up by Sept. 20.

For more information, call 634-4000, ext. 300.

Artist

For a while he was painting in a realistic style, shown is some paintings from a homeless series he did in New York City which are life-size and almost resemble photographs. Now his style has switched to a representation of the way he feels.

"My style changes all the time. A lot of my work right now borders the abstract," he explained.

Traveling all over the world allows Al to gather inspiration for his painting.

"...Each place has its own emotional spirit," he said. It kind of passes through me, I see it and feel it."

When he travels he stops and does little sketches of something he is touched by, or finds interesting, to help him when he later goes to paint it or sometimes he will take a photograph.

"I don't know what it is... I could pick up an old drawing five or six years old and can remember the feeling from when I saw it," he says.

Al has always been an artist even as a young child. He studied art for 14 years. He started his formal training as a student at Syracuse University where he had a track scholarship, he had been the New York City Cross Country champion. Al then went on the Art Students League, a well known school in the art world.

"It's a very loose school geared to an artist's personality; you pay by the month," he explained. He then went to the School of Visual Arts where he took "thousands of sketch classes."

Lachman didn't immediately paint for himself. As with everything in his life he studied it and had a plan. He worked as a commercial artist all the while, painting and selling art on the side and when the time was right he took the leap.

When he has time he will offer workshops to the public. In the past he presented one for the Pastel Society of Canada and he hopes to offer some here in the suburbs.

"The way I teach is philosophical and psychological. So we're all on the same level. My belief is everyone has some creativity in them," Al said.

He tells a charming story of himself as a boy.

"When I was about 13 or 14 in the Bronx in New York my father was a house painter and he worked hard to put food on the table. One day he came outside when I was playing and told me to go in and draw. I said, 'oh, pop I'm not inspired and he said get in the house now and draw,'" Al related. "From that moment on I could draw or paint anywhere."

He describes himself as a very motivated painter driven by three forces- desire, economics and demand.

"I paint from early morning to late afternoon. I work very hard," he said. "I just have to do it (paint)."

Al and Arlene will be at three local art festivals in the next few weeks. From Aug. 31 to Sept. 1, they will be at the Oakbrook Invitational Fine Art Exhibition held at Oakbrook Shopping Center in booth 89; for more information call (630) 573-0250. Sept. 7-8 they will be at the 39th Annual Old Orchard Art Festival from 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; for more information call (847) 446-2870.

On Sept. 28 and 29 they will be at the Arts and Riverwoods Fair in the Village of Riverwoods, from noon to 5:30 p.m.; for more information call (847) 945-9039.

booths, shops and area restaurants will offer everything from apple-glazed ribs and chicken to apple... jack, wine, jams, jellies, crisp, pie, ice cream, coffee cake, sticks, turnovers, squares and plain unadorned crunchy apples. A "Make Your Own Taffy Apple" booth will let visitors in on some of the action.

The apple theme will also be evident in merchant booths offering apple... T-shirts, jewelry, clothing, and baskets. Kids can take a ride on the "Apple Go-round."

"It's probably the most fun, for those who participate and it's just as much fun to watch," said Duerling. "They really put their whole face into it."

Kids from 6 to 12 compete first, then adults; the messy fun begins at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Other weekend activities during Applefest include the beer and brat tent sponsored by the Lions, Less Bassett on the keyboard from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and Doc Morrissey's Traveling Medicine Man Show from 1 to 4:30 p.m. The Long Grove Historical Society will offer tours of the 1840s farmhouse from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Performances run now through Oct. 12 on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.; Fridays and Saturdays, at 8 p.m.; and Sundays, at 3 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person for the general public and $12 for students and seniors. Ticket price is $10 per person for groups of eight or more. For further ticket information, call 432-7469.

'Rapunzel'

The Northbrook Theatre for Young Audiences opens its first full season Sept. 28 with "Rapunzel." This is a professional adult children's theatre company under the direction of Artistic Director Dr. Gregory C. Dennhardt. "Rapunzel" opens Saturday, Sept. 28 and runs through Nov. 2. Performance are at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturdays only. Performances on Tuesdays and Thursdays are by special arrangement only. The theatre is now booking school groups. For further ticket information, call 291-2367 (Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.).

'Shear Madness'

Mayfair Theatre, Blackstone Hotel, 636 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, will present "Shear Madness" beginning Sept. 4. Chicago's hilarious whodunit now in its 15th year where the audience gets to solve the crime. Set today in a unisex hairstyling salon that is the scene of a wacky murder, the play is filled with up to the minute spontaneous humor and is delightfully different every time you see it. Tickets are $24 and $28. Dinner packages available. Groups Sunday through Thursday at $18. Performances are Monday, Wednesday, Thursday at 8 p.m.; Friday at 9 p.m.; Saturday at 6:30 and 9:30 p.m.; and Sunday at 3 and 7:30 p.m. Call (312)786-9317 for further ticket information.

Waukegan auditions

Waukegan Community Players will hold auditions for an October performance of the comedy "The Real Inspector Hound" on Tuesday, Sept. 3 and Wednesday, Sept. 4, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Rosewald Cottage in Bowen Park in Waukegan. Directed by Laura Watkins-Ryner, a cast of three females and five males are needed. For more information, call 356-1665.

ART

Crafts in country

Wauconda Orchards, 1201 Gossell Rd., Wauconda, is kicking off their harvest season with an Applefest/Pigroast Weekend. This year crafters and artisans are invited to share their talents and display their wares and celebrate the harvest. All spaces will be outdoors, 10 feet by 10 feet, and spaced throughout the front parking lot and lawn. Dates and times will be Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Set up will start at 7 a.m. both days. Cost is $25 for one day, $35 for both days. No electricity will be available. Call 526-8553 for further information.

Visual Arts Center

The Waukegan Park District, located near downtown Waukegan near Powell Park's perimeter, invites the public to visit the Waukegan Visual Arts gallery showing of paintings, drawings and photos by Brian Kent and Laini Zinn at 533 Grand Ave. Entitled "Vacation Flora, Fauna & Fun," the exhibit displays over 60 works. The Visual Arts Center summer hours are Wednesdays, from 2 to 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 2 to 4 p.m. Call 625-9173 during those hours for other appointment times.

Sumi paintings

Suburban Fine Arts Center (SFAC) faculty member Kay Thomas is currently exhibiting water colors and Sumi paintings in the rotunda at City Hall in downtown Highland Park. Her work will be on exhibit through the month of August. Thomas, who resides in Highland Park teaches Japanese brush painting and origami at the SFAC. The Center is a not-for-profit art gallery and school that offers more than 70 classes in fine arts to adults and children. The Suburban Fine Arts Center is located at 1913 Sheridan Rd. in Highland Park.

Photo exhibit

An exhibit by Chicago photographer Terry Evans will be featured during the opening of Prairie Crossing's new community center—the Byron Colby Barn, a reconstructed 19th century dairy barn in Grayslake. The exhibit features photographs of the Liberty Prairie Reserve, of which Prairie Crossing is a part. The opening will take place on Saturday, Sept. 7 and Sunday, Sept. 8 from 1 to 4 p.m. On Sunday there will be a parade celebrating the barn opening with music, activities, and an antique vehicle parade. Prairie Crossing is located one half mile south of Rte. 120 on Rte. 45 in Grayslake. For information, call 548-5400.

Poems needed

Proof
we work twice as hard for our customers:
Not one but two higher yield accounts.

At First of America, we try to work a little harder for our customers. And so, we offer accounts that work harder too.

When it comes to earning higher yields, that means not one, but two accounts. Checking and Savings.

Cash Management Checking is a personal checking account that is designed to manage your money daily. It combines unlimited check writing with higher yields on your checking balances. The higher the balance, the higher the yield.

If you already have a Cash Management Checking Account, you can receive the special rate here on the portion of your balance over $5,000 when you make an additional deposit of $5,000 with a copy of this ad.

Like its name suggests, the new Superior Performance Fund is superior in many ways. It has high rates tied to the 91 Day Treasury Bill.

It's also fully liquid. Which gives you easy access to your money when you need it.

Needless to say, both Cash Management Checking and our Superior Performance Fund are fully FDIC insured.

To find out more, stop by any of our 130 convenient offices or you can call our Telephone Banking Center at 1-800-222-4FOA.

FIRST OF AMERICA Bank

A separate interest rate is paid for each portion of the account balance that falls within each of the following tiers. For Cash Management Checking, the interest rate for the portion of the balance above $5,000 is tied to the weekly average Federal Funds Rate less not more than one percent, which as of 8/8/96 is 4.618%. The portion of the balance $5,000 and below earns an interest rate determined by the bank, which as of 8/8/96 is 1.15%. The APY ranges from 1.16% to 4.68% on $100,000. For Superior Performance Fund, the interest rate for the portion of the balance that is $50,000 or more will be at least equal to the 91 Day T-Bill weekly auction discount rate. As of 8/8/96, the interest rate for this tier is set at 5.58%. The APY ranges from 4.68% to 5.62%. The interest rate for the portion of your balance that is $10,000 or more but less than $50,000 is tied to the 91 Day T-Bill rate less not more than 1%. As of 8/8/96, the interest rate for this tier is set at 5.33%. The APY ranges from 1.59% to 4.68%. The interest rate for the portion of your balance that is less than $10,000 is tied to the 91 Day T-Bill rate less not more than 5%. As of 8/8/96, this interest rate is set at 1.58%. The APY is 1.59%. Annual Percentage Yields (APYs) are subject to change after account opening. Fees may reduce earnings on the account. Offer available to individuals at First of America Bank - Illinois offices only. We reserve the right to limit the deposit. Member FDIC. ©1996 First of America Bank Corporation. Vets support Clinton

In the halls of the United Center, several veterans wanted to send a message to the American people about their commander-in-chief: "They love him."

"Bill Clinton has done more for veterans than any other president," said William King, a Florida delegate who serves on the national veterans committee. "He is compassionate and believes in seeing that veterans are given the recognition and the support of the government for the sacrifices they have made."

King says funding for veterans clinics and services in Florida has increased under the Clinton administration.

"We have 1.7 million veterans in Florida and with the influx of winter residents our resources have been strained. The Clinton administration has provided funding for additional clinics and a 120-bed nursing home in Broward County in the last 10 years."

For World War II veteran Charles Vizzini, the often discussed controversy about Clinton's lack of military service holds no water.

"He's been good for the veterans," said Vizzini of western Pennsylvania, who still carries a Missal with a bullet hole in it received during a battle in France in World War II. "He continues to watch benefits in the VA hospitals."

Vizzini said he has never heard veterans in western Pennsylvania complain about Clinton's "Viet Nam draft dodging."

"It happened like that during that time," Vizzini said. "His father served in World War II, people forget that."

Vizzini has been active in veterans organizations for 50 years and said the message on his sign "Veterans support Clinton," is true throughout the nation.

King says Clinton and the Republican-dominated Congress are just 1 percent away from agreeing on a budget.

He also applauded Clinton's support of benefits for veterans suffering from the effects of Agent Orange and the Gulf War syndrome.

Several delegates in the United Center wore hats and pins depicting their veterans organizations to send a message of their support.— by RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

"It's hard to believe Ron Brown is not here," Link said. "He tried to be the glue of this party."

Just as Brown tried to bring the Democratic Party together on a national level four years ago, Link in many ways is following Brown's example by building the Democratic Party in Lake County.

"He brought a lot of enthusiasm to this party," Link said. "His spirit is very much alive because I think people are very excited about this election."

NEW DEMOCRATS

While there have been some quarrels between liberals and minority groups within the party, some have said President Clinton is the first among the "New Democrats" to rise to power. New Democrats tend to be more centrist and have some conservative bends.

Link does not entirely agree with the "New Democrat" label.

"For a time there, we lost our identity by trying to be something for everybody," Link said.

He believes to some degree the party lost some of its unity as it tried to reach out to all fringe groups.

Link said the party is now returning to its roots which appealed to middle class America, the working classes and the less fortunate.

"We also want lower taxes and less crime," Link said. "We're the party who cares about people. We haven't moved to the middle. We just moved back to where we were."

ECONOMY

Link said he is critical with the 15-percent tax cuts proposed by Republican candidate Bob Dole.

He credited the Clinton Administration for creating 10 million new jobs, lowering unemployment rates, lowering mortgage rates, and lowering the deficit over the last four years.

"The economy is in a better situation than it was four years ago," Link said. "The economy is on the move. It's going in the right direction."

He compared the quick-fix tax cuts to flooding an engine.

"Why jump-start the economy now," Link asked. "I don't support supply-side economics. Our grandchildren will be paying for it."

LAKE COUNTY

Link would not indicate if any Democratic bigwigs from the convention would find their way to Lake County for any appearances.

Nonetheless, he said the convention has had a positive effect on the Democrat Party in Lake County.

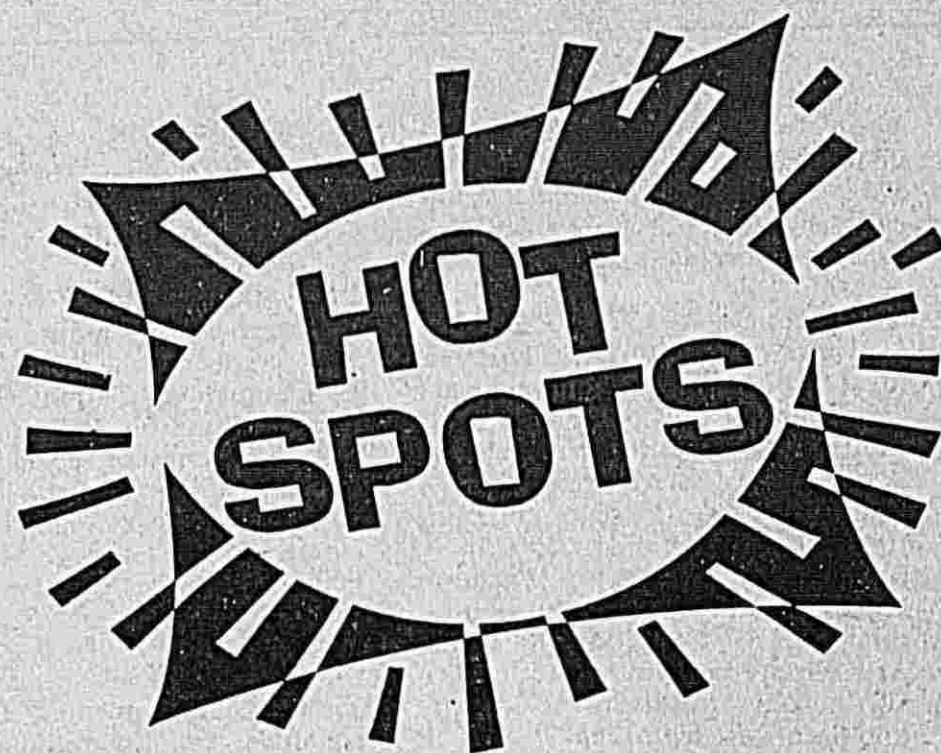

"It's created a lot of enthusiasm for a lot of people," Link said. "There were a lot of Lake County volunteers at Navy Pier. Everywhere I go, I bump into Lake County people."

He added, "I think more people are getting involved..."

Birthday brew-ha-ha set for Helander

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander will celebrate her 44 birthday with a Birthday Brew-Ha-Ha. The party is set for Thursday, Sept. 5, from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery in Lincolnshire. Lake County's newest micro brewery, Flatlander's is located at the northeast corner of Route 21/Milwaukee Ave. and Route 45/Olde Half Day Road.

More than 75 event committee members are planning the event and invite the public to join in the fun. The Birthday Brew-Ha-Ha includes hors d'oeuvres, a cash bar and, of course, a birthday cake. Tickets are $25 per person and may be purchased at the door. For more information, please contact Susan Ewalt at 680-9889.

Disney to Launch First Cruise Ship

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

I guess it was only a matter of time until Disney, the king of vacations, got in on the cruise action. In early 1998 Disney will launch the Disney Magic, the first of two cruise ships which will make up the Disney Cruise Line.

This will be Disney's first venture into the fast growing market of family cruise vacation. No, the "Big Red Boat" is not owned by Disney. It was, at one time, the "Official Cruise Line of Disney," as Delta was the "Official Airline of Disney" (a distinction neither hold anymore), but Disney had no actual ownership in the line.

Disney's new ship will not look like any of today's shiny new superliners. (No, it will not have giant mouse ears for smoke stacks). Instead, the 85,000 ton ship will feature a classic exterior design reminiscent of the trans-Atlantic ocean liners of the 30's and 40's.

The Disney Magic, as the Disney Parks, will not cater just to families. Activities will be offered for anyone from honeymooners to seniors. In fact, the Disney Magic will even feature an "adults only" dining room, pool and night club.

Of course, its family programs will be next to none. The Disney Magic will feature the largest kids' area ever created on the seven seas with a separate family/children's pool and family lounge as well as a designated teen club and game arcade.

Unlike most new ships which have done away with movie theaters, the Disney Magic will feature a 270-seat cinema showing first-run movies as well as Disney classics.

Live entertainment in the lounges will feature Disney produced shows as well as adult-oriented lecture and enrichment programs.

In addition to the 6,700-square foot Spa and Salon, there's a sports deck with a batting cage, driving range and jogging track.

Almost half of the Disney Magic's staterooms will have private verandas with most of the rest having an ocean view window.

Disney will offer a 3 or 4 day cruise on the Disney Magic followed by a 3 or 4 day Walt Disney Resort stay. The cruise will visit at least one Caribbean port along with a day long stop at a private Bahamian Island recently purchased by Disney.

Mark September 30, 1996 on your calendar...That's the first day reservations will be accepted for cruising on the Disney Magic. The first year of sailings are expected to sell out quickly, as when Disney first offered on-site hotels at their parks.

Lake County Right To Life's Annual Benefit Lunch

FEATURING

"The Salvi Family"

Sunday, September 8th 1996

This year Lake County Right to life is delighted to feature old friends in the Pro-Life movement as our speakers. Al Salvi, Schedule Permitting, will give a short and informal talk on the life issues. Kathy, will talk on Pro-Life issues from a national and international perspective.

This year our benefit will be informal, children are welcome and encouraged to attend. It's also grandparents day, so let's celebrate life and families together at the Country Squire on Sunday, September 8th at 12:30 PM.

Cost $15.00 per adult

$6.00 per child

Tickets can be purchased by calling the office at 223-7022, or by mail, P.O. Box 586, Grayslake, IL 60030. Tables of ten can be reserved.

IF THE BEARS FOOTBALL TEAM CAN FILL A STADIUM WITH 60,000 FANS, CANNOT A CELEBRATION OF LIFE THAT BENEFITS OUR EDUCATIONAL EFFORTS FILL A RESTAURANT??

And the nominee is...oh, yeah—him.

Political conventions ain't what they used to be. Where's the excitement? The uncertainty? The other candidates?

For instance, the recent Republican convention was basically a party, where all the Republicans came to hang out with Bob Dole, slap him on the back and say, "We love you, man!"

Okay, there was the two seconds of surprise when Jack Kemp was chosen as his running mate ("Go out for a pass, Bob...never mind, I'll get it"). But after that, the convention simply became one big boring political roast, with Bob Dole as the master of ceremonies and Bill Clinton serving as the pig on the skewer.

And do you think the Democratic convention is going to be any more exciting? Of course not! Despite the fact that it will be held in Chicago, which holds the dubious distinction of having the most infamous and out of control convention of all (what can we say?)

Chicago knows how to party! I don't think we'll be repeating that sort of thing this year.

Instead, the Democratic convention will be a Clinton/Gore love fest, where speakers will take turns bragging about Clinton's achievements and blaming any failures on the Republicans. As for Whitewater, it will merely be another name for "rapids." Yawn, yawn.

blah, smaller government, blah, blah, lower taxes, blah, blah, blah."

Next time, I'd advise them that if they really want us to tune in to the conventions, they're going to have to get some more interesting speakers.

Maybe Dennis Rodman for the Democrats. Imagine his keynote speech: "So, all you bleep, maybe you should bleep and then you wouldn't all be so bleeping bleep..." And he could bring his hairdresser and have them color a large donkey on the back of Clinton's head. The Republicans might want to recruit Connie Chung's mother, just so they can have a little fun and revenge.

Anyway, until things change, all this staged, politically correct "just tell them what we think they want to hear" campaign boredom makes me long for the '60s, when political conventions were the site of loud opinions, groovy music and young folks protesting and carrying signs. I am, however, realistic. With the fashions worn by today's youth, it's doubtful you're going to see them out protesting anytime soon, walking the streets in front of the convention hall carrying signs.

Their pants might fall down.

DONNA ABEAR

So what's the point of holding these conventions at all? It's sort of a let down, similar to a couple who finds out the sex of their child by ultrasound, decorates the nursery in blue, and yet still runs around screaming, "It's a boy!" It's a boy!" when the child is born.

Even the media is bored, which is hard to believe. I thought they enjoyed beating a dead horse, even an old war horse like Bob Dole.

But the Republican convention was so well-orchestrated, so sanitized that Ted Koppel took his cameras and left early, saying he won't be attending the Democratic convention either. I don't blame him. How can you continue to cover these events where, regardless of whether it's Democrats or Republicans, everyone says the same thing—"Blah, blah, family values, blah,

Marconi bowling tournament raises $28,000

The 4th annual "Joe Marconi Celebrity Bowling Tournament" held at Hawthorn Lanes in Vernon Hills, raised $28,000 for the Lincolnwood-based Leukemia Research Foundation. Mike Dikta and Mike North from The Score Sportsradio 820 headlined a group of 12 celebrities, who joined 20 professional bowlers and more than 100 tour-namment participants at the event.

Dikta played with Joe Marconi on the 1963 Bears Championship team, and serves as Honorary Chairman of the event in memory of his friend who died from leukemia in 1992.

The top male bowler was Robby Spigner of Vernon Hills, with Barb Spigner of Vernon Hills leading the way in the female division.

The Leukemia Research Foundation, now celebrating its 50th anniversary, directs the activities of more than 1,000 volunteers, forming 14 local chapters, that have raised more than $15 million since the Foundation's inception in 1946.

Music Notes

by Greg May

This ones for you!

Many of you know I am leaving the area to relocate in Southern California. Although the sun shines non-stop there, it won't be able to replace the many friends and great times I've enjoyed here the last 2 1/2 years. I have traveled the U.S. extensively, I guarantee you the best people and music are right here in the Fox Lake area.

I want to thank all of you for your friendship, support, and non-stop laughs.

Wednesdays will be hard to adjust to in California, no Redeye Express Jams or Shramm Jams.

On the lighter side of things, I will be recording a CD with a band called Faultline, and doing some projects with Tammie Diddy, Bo Diddy's daughter.

This article will continue with a new correspondent. Keep up the music, support your local bands. This one is for you!

Costner below par wins in 'Cup'

Kevin Costner forsakes the heavy challenges of "Waterworld," and "Dancing With Wolves," for a romantic comedy about the golfing world in "Tin Cup."

Although his other very successful sporting life movie "Bull Durham" had a slightly heavier theme, his charm and likeable personality make the very "non-spectator" sport of golfing a lot of fun in this romantic comedy.

Costner's reunion with the director he played ball so well with in "Bull Durham," making it the great pic that is was, Ron Shelton, has resulted in another winner that scores well-under par.

Exchanging his gills for golf balls, and forsaking his horse for a golf cart, Costner plays another has been athlete who travels in the world of second rate golfing, partytime and strippers. Then he meets Renee Russo who is the girlfriend of his all time arch rival Don Johnson, a top PGA golfer.

Russo seems to get better with every picture as she bounces from stars like Clint Eastwood to Costner and Johnson with alacrity. She proves to be more than a pretty face and establishes herself as a first rate leading lady with this one.

Surprisingly there are many shots in "Tin Cup" that have Costner and Johnson strong look-a-likes. Maybe it's the Johnson five-o'clock shadow trademark that Costner adopts that does it.

Costner's resolve to win "The Big One" on the pro golf tour and take Russo away from Johnson to boot leads to a climax that some will not expect.

Viewing "Tin Cup," unlike the sport that is the film's subject, is not like watching grass grow, but is filled with fast paced comedy and some attention-getting steamy love scenes that Russo gets to play with two of

Cheech Marin, Kevin Costner

Hollywood's sexiest men. Not a bad job if you can get it!

Glad to see Costner's easy manner at its best! This is also one of Johnson's better performances in a long time and Cheech Marin has a great featured role as a caddie.

We rate "Tin Cup" the most enjoyable sports story in many a moon by giving it 4.5 stars out of five.—by GLORIA DAVIS

The Northwest Suburban Christian Women's Club invites all women to their Sept. 12 luncheon themed "How Sweet It Is." The luncheon will feature a presentation by Morkes' Chocolate Shop of Palatine. Shannon Kurtz is the featured vocalist, and Lynn Hodge from Brownsburg, Ind. will share her humor with the group. The luncheon will be held from noon to 2 p.m. at Concorde Banquets located on Rte. 12 near Quentin Road in Lake Zurich. Cost is $10. Call Betty at 526-3043 or Gail at 438-8197 by Sept. 9.

New Beginnings plans 20th anniversary

New Beginnings, a social support group for the separated, divorced, widowed, remarried and never married, was the first Phoenix group started by the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago. Father Jim Flosi and Father Pat Brennan began the group at St. Hubert's Church in Hoffman Estates 20 years ago. A meeting has been held every Monday evening for the past 20 years with 50 to 100 people attending. To celebrate this 20th anniversary, a dinner dance will be held on Saturday, Sept. 14 at the Cascade Banquets, 800 W. Irving Park Rd., Bensenville. The donation is $25 per person and will include a family style dinner. There will be a cash bar opening at 6:30 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by DJ Scott Kraft. Call Flo at 397-6628 for further information.

★ HOROSCOPE ★

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You feel good that you can believe in a certain person again. This person has been trying your patience of late. While out shopping, you have some trouble resisting temptation. A co-worker isn't forthcoming with information you need.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) That news you've been waiting for finally arrives this week. Something you're concerned about on the work front is a complicated issue and requires more thought on your part. Consult with co-workers to find a solution.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's full speed ahead on that certain project that had you a bit stymied a while back. At the same time, those around you are indulging in an ego trip. You're at your communicative best over the weekend.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A friend is likely to agree with you on a sensitive issue concerning a mutual acquaintance. This person really is only indulging in self pity and some manipulation. You're both wise not to fall for it. The weekend promises rest and relaxation.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Socializing is jeopardized this week when someone gets some wires crossed and there's miscommunication. You'll want to withdraw into yourself, but someone close gets you to open up. Later in the week, get out those travel brochures.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A business or financial development that occurs this week ultimately benefits you. The accent is on friendship, although a certain person is cantankerous and difficult and should be avoided. This weekend, keep credit cards at home.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) The beginning of the week is best to tackle those domestic chores you've been avoiding. You and a loved one come to a new agreement about your relationship and where it's ultimately leading. You are finally able to be realistic about this.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You're on the same wavelength with a co-worker and communication improves in general at work. In friendship, you are able to find a solution to a mutual problem when you both put your heads together.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Something you'd been worried about for some time finally dissipates. You're feeling frisky in romance, but you're being too pushy at the same time. Your significant other needs some space right now.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) It's best to put your social plans on hold for a while until you tend to what's going on at home. Later in the week, business-related concerns take up your time. However, someone in authority is willing to work alongside you.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A financial worry is eased this week with help coming from a surprising source. However, certain family members are itching for a fight and could try to goad you into it. This weekend, something unusual catches your eye while out shopping.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You're being a bit of a Mother Hen when it comes to a certain friend who is perfectly capable of solving his own problems. Business deals aren't favored, so patience is needed on the work front.

Multiple Sclerosis Assn. wins Telly awards

The Multiple Sclerosis Association of America has won the 1996 Telly Award for best video in the field of health and medicine. This well-known and highly respected national competition attracted more than 9,000 entries this year. The award-winning video, titled, MS Challengers, is an eight-minute educational and motivational piece which focuses on the medical and personal side of multiple sclerosis.

According to the Association, the video was created to offer physicians a new tool in explaining MS and how patients cope with its often crippling effects. "Every aspect of this video is based on real-life experiences," said MSAA President John G. Hodson, Sr. "In addition to describing the clinical aspects of MS, the video features five of our patient-members who discuss their personal experiences, struggles and extraordinary courage in adapting their lifestyle to stay productive. We hope this video helps in lessening the blow of being

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system affecting as many as 500,000 Americans. It strikes men and women between the ages of 20 and 40 and has no cure. Common symptoms included vision difficulties, numbness, impaired mobility, fatigue, problems with balance and coordination, and partial to complete paralysis.

The MSAA, which introduced MS Challengers at the American Academy of Neurology's national conference, is currently distributing the video to physicians, public libraries and community outreach groups nationwide. For more information on obtaining a personal copy, call 1-800-LEARN MS.

Additional MSAA services include peer counseling, support groups, free loan of therapeutic equipment, barrier-free housing, micro climate cooling, patient literature, no-cost MRI scans, public awareness and other vital care programs.

Pain management expert to address conference

Dr. Martha Twaddle, MD, Hospice of the North Shore's medical director, will be the keynote speaker for the "Advanced Concepts in the Care of the Terminally Ill Patient: Expanding the Horizons of Pain Management" conference to be held at Oakton Community College Tuesday, October 22 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The conference is designed for nurses who wish to expand their repertoire of pain management skills in caring for terminally ill patients and their families.

The conference featuring nurses, social workers and a chaplain from Hospice of the North Shore, will address issues such as advanced pain management for emotional, psychological, spiritual, and both pharmacological and non-pharmacological interventions. Experiential exercises will be demonstrated and individualized action plans developed as part of the program's objective to provide "back home" applications.

This wide variety of topics and applications will also be addressed by Hospice of the North Shore's professional staff, including:

- Carol Drengenbert, CRNH, BSN, LPC, MA
Hospice Nurse/Bereavement Counselor
- Alice Strain, M. Div.,

Chaplain

- Sr. Rosemary Pagliano, RN, BSN, Staff Nurse
- Kim Fox-Gunderson, MSW, LCSW

Associate Coordinator of Families with Children

The program is co-sponsored by Oakton Community College Alliance for Lifelong Learning Continuing Education for Health Professional Program and Hospice of the North Shore, a caregiving provider of Palliative Care Center of the North Shore. Nurses may also receive seven and a half hours credit toward continuing education. Oakton Community College is located at 1600 E. Golf Road in Des Plaines, Ill. Cost of the seminar is $79 per person and checks are to be made payable to Oakton Community College.

LFH program discusses ketogenic diet for epilepsy

Imagine controlling a child's epileptic seizures by restricting his/her diet. The ketogenic diet was initially instituted 70 years ago as a treatment plan for epilepsy following the observation that people fasting for religious reasons to cure their epilepsy seemed to have a remission of their seizures.

In the 1920s, physicians at Johns Hopkins University conducted a scientific study on ketone bodies and found them to be building up in the blood and spinal fluid. Ketone bodies are any of three compounds found in the blood and urine in abnormal amounts when people are fasting. Patients usually had a partial remission, and doctors then designed a diet that would emphasize how to use ketone bodies with a new understanding that fats and their metabolism were breaking down into ketone bodies as a source of fuel for the body.

The study led to the design of a diet that is very high in fat, low in carbohydrates and giving the minimal amount of protein that is required for growth and development. The ketogenic diet became established as an effective treatment option for epileptics. Dr. Michael Chez, pediatric epileptologist on staff at Lake Forest Hospital, is one of the few physicians across the United States who has learned to use this revolutionary diet for the treatment of epileptic seizures on select patients and initiated the diet program at Lake Forest Hospital.

Lake Forest Hospital registered dietitian, Edye Wagner, R. D., worked with Dr. Chez in establishing the program at LFH and assists parents with the implementation. Both Dr. Chez and Ms. Wagner were featured in a Cable News Network (CNN) segment as well as on local NBC News. The LFH Ketogenic Diet Center is one of 17 centers approved by the Charley Foundation and Johns Hopkins.

Join Dr. Chez in a very special program, "The Ketogenic Diet for Epilepsy" which will be held on Thursday, Sept. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Conference Center at Lake Forest Hospital. This program will be co-sponsored by the Epilepsy Services for Northeastern Illinois and will include a question and answer session. For further information or register for "The Ketogenic Diet for Epilepsy," call 234-6112.

HEALTH BRIEF

Myeloma support group offered

Highland Park Hospital, in conjunction with the Midwest Action Committee of the International Myeloma Foundation, is offering a free monthly support group for people suffering from multiple myeloma, their family members, and friends. Multiple myeloma is a unique cancer of the bone marrow.

This group meets the second Monday of every month, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Highland Park Hospital's Education Center. The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 9.

According to the International Myeloma Foundation, multiple myeloma is an uncontrolled growth of plasma cells, a critical part of the body's immune system. For additional information regarding this support group, contact Judy Goldman at The Midwest Action Committee of the International Myeloma Foundation at 295-5992.

Highland Park Hospital is located at 718 Glenview Avenue in Highland Park.

RAYMOND MCCASKEY

There's an on-going debate in Washington, D.C., concerning managed care and Medicare. While much of the discussion has centered on reducing costs—and there is little doubt that the increased use of managed care in the Medicare program would save money—there are more important reasons for making a change. Managed care plans can provide high-quality, coordinated care that is well-suited for the health care needs of older Americans.

The quality of most managed care plans is extremely high. Often these health care plans demand that specialists be board certified, a requirement frequently missing the traditional fee-for-service arrangement which currently dominates Medicare. Managed care tends to attract physicians who are concerned with the total care of their patients.

A primary care physician is exactly the kind of person older individuals need to coordinate their potentially complex health care. An older individual may require treatment for more than one ailment and may need to see several specialists and then continually monitors and coordinates the treatment to assure that it is proper and effective.

Other individuals may be taking several different medicines, prescribed by several specialists and preventing adverse drug interaction is a serious concern. Numerous drug store chains have begun offering drug interaction monitoring services for customers who are in fee-for-service arrangements. Primary care physicians, in managed care plans, monitor all the prescriptions of their patients. Also, many managed care plans cover a significant portion of prescription drug costs.

Managed care plans also emphasize preventative care including periodic examinations and testing. Hearing, vision and dental care programs are often available in managed care plans. In addition, wellness programs that could show seniors how to stay healthy with proper nutrition and exercise are important components of managed care plans.

Choice is often a concern expressed in the managed care-Medicare debate. But the fact is the Medicare program, as it's currently configured, limits choice by offering mainly a fee-for-service type of health care delivery system. A greater availability of managed care in Medicare would allow beneficiaries to select from a variety of health plans. They would have the opportunity to find a plan that best matches their needs and lifestyles. Physician choice is also likely to be enhanced by a well-designed managed care Medicare program. A large number of physicians would be attracted to the stability in reimbursement rates available through managed care and would welcome the opportunity to provide health care for Medicare beneficiaries.

There are many Medicare beneficiaries who already belong to managed care plans to cover the expenses that are not covered by Medicare.

These plans are part of a limited demonstration project known as Medicare Select. A report by the federal agency that oversees Medicare has determined that these health plans work well. Not only have seniors in these plans saved money—17 to 22 percent over traditional Medigap plans—but they also say that they are just as satisfied with the quality of the care they receive. Ninety percent of the Medicare Select enrollees who were surveyed by the Health Care Financing Administration reported that they were "satisfied" or "very satisfied" with their health plans.

Moreover, the study also found no significant difference in the health status of beneficiaries who were enrolled in Medicare Select and non-Medicare Select plans.

The debate over the best methods for saving the Medicare system from bankruptcy may continue for awhile longer, but the facts show that there should no longer be any debate about the contribution that the Medicare system increased use of managed care can make to the well-being of the people who depend on the

Hotline offers pollen count update

Highland Park Hospital has acquired state-of-the-art equipment to provide high quality information on pollen and mold levels that exist in the environment. This service is extremely important for individuals suffering from allergies, asthma and other diseases because these counts are used as potential early warning signs of respiratory problems related to allergens.

Consolidated Medical Laboratories of Highland Park Hospital and the Board Certified Allergists on Staff, Salmon S. Goldberg, M.D., Arnold A. Gutman, M.D., Martin J. Kaplan, M.D., and Paul M. Kentor, M.D. and their associates will be furnishing daily pollen and mold counts.

To obtain daily information for pollens and molds surveyed, call the hotline number 24-hours a day at 480-3960.

Early pregnancy classes set

Highland Park Hospital is offering a free prenatal course designed for women in their first trimester of pregnancy on Tuesday, Sept. 10. This course, taught by a registered nurse specializing in Obstetrics and Gynecology, a registered dietitian, and a physical therapist, will emphasize safe exercise, healthy nutrition, and your changing anatomy. This free program will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in meeting room 3 at Highland Park Hospital. For more information, call 432-1161.

Could be worse

For the person who's complaining about smelling charcoal, how about smelling garbage all night? I have disgusting neighbors. They don't want to pay their garbage bill, they want to burn it instead. We have to suffer for it. We have to close our windows, etc.

Let's look here

In answer to "Sorry for slur," and "No more games," in regard to the TWA bombing, everyone points to the Saudi Arabians and others, when what they don't realize is there's a naval base there where they practice shooting. All it takes for one crazy to have live ammunition in their gun. The government is hiding the facts about this plane. Let's look at the terrorists in our own country.

Flooding priority

On Friday, Aug. 9, I talked to an engineer who was measuring the fronts of yards on the west side of Brown St. in Wauconda for sidewalks. After talking to several people on the street, it was the consensus that the mayor should worry more about flooding on the street rather than sidewalks. The mayor and village board should put their priorities in order. They've lost the pulse of the people. Remember, village elections are in the spring of 1997.

Call for help

I have an answer to the comment in Lipservice on Aug. 9, "Needs improvement." If Wauconda wants Grayslake to help with their pageant, I'm sure they would love to. However, I'm not in charge. All they'd have to do is call because they helped other villages, too. I'm sure the director would love to talk to the Wauconda director. They're very nice people and would love to help.

Good neighbors

I'm calling to commend Phil Burgdorf and the Lotus Shores Homeowners Association for donating $1,000 to the funeral fund for the Prichard-Luna-Jackson families. It's nice to know there's still such good neighbors who care, especially when a tragedy occurs. We could all learn a lesson from this Antioch subdivision. Hats off!

Just stupid

This is to the stupid Cub fan in "Boo Hoo." First of all, you don't know what you're talking about. Harry can't drink because of his strokes and the medication he's on. As far as throwing balls back being a tradition, it's not a tradition, it's stupid—and so are you.

Whose money?

If President Clinton never made over $35,000 a year as governor, how did he and Hillary accumulate a net worth of $5 million? That's puzzling.

Dole backer

Who takes the polls that show President Clinton so far ahead? I think the people of America would rather have a war hero who carries his wounds at his side than a deadbeat draft-dodger for president.

Enforce fines

In regard to Mayor Shineflug being so happy about the Adopt-a-Highway program, if Illinois would put up fine signs for littering as other states do, and enforce the fines, maybe we wouldn't have to have the program. Also, about the young boys in the engineer compartment in the train, I saw the same thing myself and called about it and was told the engineer has a choice to take their family in there. So much for safety!

I was floored

I'd like to send a message to Michelle Fuller, Bill Connelly, and the rest of the current and past St. Peter Athletic Committee personnel. I'd like to commend them on a well-needed and excellent job on the gym floor in the social center of St. Peter. It was well overdue and the company did an outstanding job. We can only hope it's maintained and cherished by the users as if it were their own.

Too little too late

I was just reading the comment in the Aug. 9 issue about the county approved five year road improvement project. Unless you're riding a bike or taking a train, these projects don't seem to help control traffic or improve it. The improvements should have been done before all the development.

No stunt work

I live in a residential area and in the last several weeks, there've been a lot of planes doing stunts above us. If they want to practice for an air show, they should do it over the lake instead of disturbing our peace and quiet.

Great reunion

I'm calling to applaud the committee for the Wauconda High School 1976 class reunion. It was a job well done and a great time had by all. Thank you!

Naive voters

I'm not only amused, but also offended by Mayor Welton's election year shenanigans. Does he really think by introducing a tax rebate to residents of Gurnee that he'll seal his bid for re-election? I passed around the article in my neighborhood and everybody laughed. Does he think voters are that naive? The residents can get the rebate from any mayor they vote into office, hopefully someone that doesn't have a slash and burn development agenda like Welton. Just remember what happened to Bob Depke. I've been a Gurnee resident for 10 years and I say forget all of Welton's gifts and vote for someone that really cares for the people before our city is just another bunch of parks and malls.

Off the air

I've read the arguments in Lipservice battling over the best baseball team in Chicago and the consensus, even with Cub fans, seems to be that

Harry Carey isn't 100 percent. I'm a true Chicago fan and support both teams and my opinion is that Harry Carey is embarrassing not only himself, but Chicago. Sure, he is a leg end and deserves respect for what he's accomplished. But he is the perfect argument for getting out while you're at the top. He slurs and makes mistakes, and even forgets players' names. It's really painful to listen to him, so I don't. Please, Harry, retire with some dignity and do it soon!

on the Lake Villa Township football league cheerleaders.
Those girls did so good.
Everyone should come out and watch them Sept. 1st.

Editor's Note: The caption headline "What a view," was well-intended and meant to describe the perspective of the cheerleader who was being tossed in the air, not the view from ground level.

Unfair

I'd like to know why when we get arrested, our names are in the paper, but when the policemen do something wrong, they're not. As taxpayers, we have a right to know who they are.

Great improvement

I'd like to say thank you to Mark Ring, Antioch's road commissioner, and his crew for a job well done. Warner Shores subdivision's roads are finally complete and they look GREAT.
What an improvement. They'll be enjoyed by everyone.

Farewell, girls

This is a fond farewell to two young ladies who will be too old next summer to play youth softball in Grant Twp. TAAA.
Their sportsmanship, conduct, attitudes, and athletic abilities have always been outstanding.
They've always been team players. Good luck to you, Amanda Morman and Valerie Fuentes!
Don't ever lose what you've learned, you both are great!

Teenage hero

This is to send some praises to a young man by the name of Ryan Murillo. Ryan lives in Round Lake Beach next door to me and he was on his way home one night and heard someone crying for help. It was an older man who had fallen off a homemade scaffold while painting his house. Ryan stayed with the man and sent his sister home to call 911. He comforted him and I know he prevented him from going into severe shock. I think Ryan deserves some praise for his act of heroism and concern.
Congratulations, Ryan, on a job well done!

Dangerous crossing

As I was driving through Grayslake the other day, a freight train was coming through and the gates were coming down. I was amazed at the younger children crossing over the sidewalk on their bikes while the gates were going down. They didn't seem to care and the train was coming pretty fast. I think us drivers have to be more aware and it should be taught to children that they should be more careful.

Good idea

At the last village of Antioch meeting, they approved an increase for the use of parks.
The increase was for $15 for village residents, $20 for township residents, and $30 for others. Why doesn't the Chain O' Lakes Waterway Agency adopt a similar program for the use and fee of their stickers for boats riding on the chain?
They should charge a certain fee for people who live on the water, in the district, and out of the area. Wisconsin State Parks do this.

Gyped

I've lived in Gurnee 50 years.
This year the parade didn't have enough bands. The Warren Township band did not play their music at the end where the seniors were sitting.
Us seniors who can't get up to the beginning would like to hear the music, too. The clown was great, but put her up front with the kids. Also, the parade entrants need to be closer together.

Apology accepted

This is in response to the person who called about the bombing in Saudi Arabia that I responded to. You called back and apologized for a slur to "my nationality" thinking I am most likely of that descent. I was born in the United States to parents and grandparents that were also born here. I think the hatred for Arabia needs to be re-analyzed.

History has proved it's possible for a nation to receive selective, slanted views and information to suit different purposes. Did you believe the Warren Commission, too? I commend you for your apology and think you're a gracious person to apologize. We both abhor the violence that never stops.

Three cheers

I want to extend a big thank you to Wauconda's wheat harvester operator, Mick Lincoln, for doing such a terrific job, especially in hot weather. Another thank you to the Wauconda Police Department for doing such an excellent job of patrolling Bangs Lake and making it that much safer for boaters. Finally, a big cheer for the Bangs Lake Management Committee and Village Board for not jumping

the gun and treating the lake with sonar. It was great to hear that the weevils survived. Bangs Lake being rated 7th cleanest out of 45 is proof they made the right choice.

No contest

I can't believe these scumbag Republicans. They must have amnesia or selective memory.
They don't remember anything
Reagan and Bush did, do they?
How about a little thing called Iran Contra? Name me one thing Clinton's done that's been that dirty and disgusting!

Doggie in window

Is anyone else concerned about the large yellow lab retriever puppy that's in a tiny cage in a pet store in Antioch? This tiny dog has no place to exercise his muscles, or develop his bone structure. Who can be called to check out if the size of the cage is appropriate for his size? The last time I saw him, he was laying there chewing on his leg.

Time is now

The good people of Ingleside have every right to vote on a new building because the revenue to maintain that building would be coming from them. Therefore, they have the constitutional right to invoke their right to vote on that issue. The Grant Township Supervisor, Gordy

Kiesgen, is playing footsie with developers, and they're trying to skirt around the rights of the people. The time is now for the people to petition to incorporate and get it on the ballot in November.

Do like Hoosiers

In the state of Indiana, they're passing an ordinance to protect the farmland from would-be developers. They should do the same in Illinois, where the foliage is equal to those of the New England states.

Control skaters

I drove through downtown Antioch at night one night and saw kids using the street at Route 83 and Main St. to skateboard. These kids were in dark clothes with no cops around.
Where is the policeman with the bicycle to patrol the actions of these kids? It's a very dangerous situation.

Jan Wannstedt headlines Lake County Power Breakfast

The Chicago Bears '96 NFL opener against the Dallas Cowboys will be featured topic when the Lake County Power Breakfast opens its season on Wednesday, September 4 at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth. Jan Wannstedt, wife of Bears' Head Coach Dave Wannstedt, and former Bear Glenn Kozlowski are the featured speakers.

The Lake County Power Breakfast is a monthly forum featuring interesting issues in business, politics and entertainment.

"What better way to kick-off our season than to talk about the Bears opener," noted an enthusiastic Lenny Khayat, General Manager at Midlane Country Club. "Jan Wannstedt is a very polished, very candid speaker. I'm sure she'll have some interesting insights about the game as well as what it's like to live with the Coach in the days leading up to the opener. Then, Glenn Kozlowski will analyze the game, grade the players and give you his view on the Bears' performance."

I think most fans will agree that the Power Breakfast opener is just the first leg of the '96 Bears' journey to the Super Bowl!"

For the first time, the Lake County Power Breakfast will be taped for cable television this year. The Power Breakfast show can be seen at 7 p.m., Monday and Wednesday nights on the Star Channel (channel 3 on the U.S. cable of Lake County system).

The Lake County Power Breakfast has already secured several dynamic speakers for the coming season. Illinois State Senator Adeline J. Geo-Karis and House Majority Leader Representative Robert Churchill have agreed to speak in October. Khayat was mum about November speakers but noted that local Mayors Bill Durkin (Waukegan), Dick Welton (Gurnee), and Bobby Thompson (North Chicago) have been invited for December.

The Power Breakfast meets the first Wednesday of each month at Midlane.

The Lake County Power Breakfast is open to the public beginning at 7:30 a.m., Wednesday, September 4.

Reservations are accepted at the Lake County Chamber office 249-3800 and at Midlane Country Club 360-0550.

For more information, contact Charles C. Isely III, President/CEO of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce.

TWA crash leads to new postal restrictions

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

The crash of TWA Flight 800 off Long Island in late July has led to the revision of postal mailing regulations in an effort to combat terrorist activity.

The biggest changes for consumer is that most packages must now be mailed in person at a postal counter and proper identification must be presented.

In order to comply with Federal Aviation Association guidelines the U.S. Postal Service has instituted reforms for packages weighing 16 ounces or more to protect against the mailing of explosives.

Antioch Postmaster Tim Prince said any package over the weight limit of 1 pound will not be accepted from a postal box if it is stamped. It must be brought in to the post office to be mailed. Metered mail over the weight limit will be accepted in the postal boxes he explained.

"If they bring it to the window it's okay," he said.

Postmaster Mary Cardwell of the Mundelein post office said consumers really won't notice much change with the reforms.

"We're seeing very little change in what we do. A letter carrier can only accept packages from a known customer. The biggest change is the customer can't mail from a postal box," Cardwell explained.

She said they really don't collect many boxes of that size from a postal box anyway.

"I think for the most part it will go unnoticed because most letter carriers know the people on their route and know their business customers as well," she said.

CLC names Small Business Development Center director

Linda Jorn of Lake Villa has been appointed director of the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at the College of Lake County. Jorn, who assumed her duties on August 12, comes to CLC after serving as principal planner and section chief of economic development for the Lake County Department of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality (Waukegan).

A life-long Lake County resident, Jorn worked for the Lake County Department of Planning for 10 years. She started there in 1986, serving as the planner and financial specialist for two years and then as the senior planner and senior financial specialist for two more years before becoming the principal planner in 1990. During her tenure, Jorn was involved in economic development planning and research, and administering the county's Small Business Administration and business development loan programs. She also assisted in the administration of the Lake County Economic Development Commission, provided financial aid information to the public and private sector and reviewed business development plans and loan applications.

Jorn is a graduate of Northern Illinois University with a bachelor's degree in political science with a minor business administration. She is a 1995 graduate of the University of Oklahoma's Economic Development Institute. She also is a Certified Economic Developer, a designation she earned from the American Economic Development Council after passing a national examination in 1995. Nationally, only about 1,200 people have this certification.

The CLC Small Business Development Center, funded by a grant from the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, provides assistance in starting a business, including developing a business plan, preparing a loan application, identifying financial resources and conducting feasibility studies and market research. The SBDC also provides free consultation services and business education workshops at an affordable cost. For information, call 223-3633.

Century 21 United opens new Gurnee branch office

Real estate veterans Elizabeth Scheffler, John Simcic and Daryl Hedlin, broker/owners announced that they opened a new branch office of Century 21 Maki United in Gurnee. Century 21 United, located at 7500 West Grand Avenue, will focus on relocation, new construction, existing home sales and rentals.

"This new office is located on the second floor of the Grand National Bank at the corner of Grand and Hutchings," said Scheffler, broker/owner of Century 21 United. "It is in an excellent location that is part of the new construction in that area. This location will enable us to better service the real estate needs around the Gurnee community." The Century 21 United Group has three additional locations with offices in Waukegan, Vernon Hills and Grayslake.

The real estate company's designated media spokesperson is Gurnee Manager, Debbie Christensen, who will be recruiting for all of the locations. Christensen has over 17 years of experience in the real estate industry and was a former owner of a RE/MAX franchise.

First of America Bank announces leaders in service for 2nd quarter

First of America Bank—Illinois, N.A. announces "Leaders in Service Award" winners. Barbara Coleman, Audrey Usry and Carole Machnics were presented with the award by Alvin Becker, Regional Bank President.

Coleman, an assistant branch manager at the bank's Mundelein Banking Center, was recognized for exemplifying quality service.

Usry, a commercial loan services representative at the Buffalo Grove-Dundee Banking Center, was recognized for establishing strong working relationships with her clients and peers.

Machnics, a branch manager at the Gurnee Banking Center, was recognized for consistently being an excellent leader.

Based on total assets, First of America is ranked 32 among banking companies in the United States.

Kemper spruces up Bridge House

Twenty volunteers from the Kemper National Insurance Companies headquarters in Long Grove spent Aug. 16 painting rooms at Bridge House, a Waukegan-based residential facility for men and women recovering from alcoholism and other drug abuse.

Operated by the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse, the 71-year old structure is in the midst of a year-long renovation project. Judy Fried, NICASA's executive director, said nearly 3,000 men and women have become self-sufficient, contributing members of society since the 1972 founding of Bridge House.

"We are so grateful to Kemper as a corporation and to individual employees for all that they are doing on behalf of the agency," Fried said. She noted that James S. Kemper III has been chairman of NICASA's board for several years and that the corporation has provided significant funding support to its prevention and treatment programs as well as to facility improvement.

The Kemper volunteer effort is one of many activities related to the renovation project, which is part of the agency's 30 anniversary celebration. Coordinating the project is the Women's Board of NICASA. Co-chairs are board secretary Denise Vickers and her husband, Troy, both long time executives at Abbott Laboratories.

Troy Vickers said he and his wife enjoy working together and are very excited about helping Bridge House. He said they are impressed with Debi Leer, the program's director, and her staff.

"All are warm, focused and dedicated," he said, "and the success of the program is phenomenal. However, the current physical condition and decor of Bridge House is, at best, a distraction. I want to help make Bridge House more conducive to high self-esteem and pride."

More than 30 Abbott managers spent a Saturday in April painting bedrooms and making numerous repairs to the facility. Other area businesses and community groups are helping with the renovation by providing volunteers or funding assistance.

Fried said the agency responded to AA's call for a safe haven by founding Bridge House in 1972 as a community-based residence for men and women recovering from chemical dependency.

She said Bridge House, which is adjacent to the Lake County Health Department complex on Grand Avenue in Waukegan, continues to serve men and women from all communities in Lake County who need professional assistance and a supportive environment. The home was constructed in 1925 as a private residence.

NICASA, a not-for-profit agency specializing in programs to prevent and treat alcohol and other drug abuse, is observing its 30 anniversary this year.

In addition to Round Lake, the agency operates clinical facilities in Waukegan and Prairie View, a Women and Children's Center in North Chicago and Bridge House, a residential facility in Waukegan.

Anyone interested in obtaining more information about the Bridge House renovation project is encouraged to contact Fried or Bill Hetland, communication coordinator at 546-6450.

Minding Your Own Business—Counseling Service sets anchor in Grayslake

Somebody woke the giant

DON TAYLOR

Once upon a time in nearly every major trade area in the U.S. a giant lived peacefully among the people. The giant was a merchant and provided folks lots of stuff. Most folks considered the giant friendly enough, but a few citizens got their feathers ruffled now and then. When they did, they found someone else to provide the things they formerly bought from the giant.

The giant's name was nearly as big as the giant itself. The giant had a first name, a last name, and three middle names. Its first name was "Shurinuf," pronounced "Sure enough." The middle names were "Everybody's Average Retail" and its last name was "Store." All the folks called the giant "Sears" for the sake of simplicity.

You could often find the giant on main street in smaller towns and it usually hung out at the mall in larger trade areas. The giant had been the biggest kid on the block since 1964. However, sometime in the 1980's the giant went to sleep.

Two new kids who were unrelated, but shared the same last name, noticed the giant was dozing off. Wally Mart and Kay Mart had been taking their vitamins and they were growing like crazy. By 1990, both of the Mart kids had become even bigger than the giant. Wally, whose friends called him "Wal" for short, continued to grow. While the giant slept, he nearly doubled in size.

If this were a fairy tale, everyone would live happily ever after. It isn't, and they don't. This is a true story and I believe the Sears giant is wide awake.

The giant wakes

Sears, once America's largest retail chain is on the comeback trail. While this may not spell immediate trouble for the world's largest retailer, Wal-Mart, it will have some effect on lots of other folks.

In 1992, Arthur Martinez took over the reins at the Sears Merchandise Group, and he immediately shook the giant awake. In a few short months Martinez stopped production of the "big catalog," closed more than 100 locations and reduced Sears' work force by nearly 50,000 employees. He began a campaign to upgrade existing stores and is plowing an estimated $4 billion into that effort. It appears to be working, as sales are increasing and profit hit $1.8 billion in FY1995.

Think big, act small

To me, the most fascinating part of the apparent Sears' revival is the new corporate philosophy. Sears is a big retailer with nearly

Sears is adding hot brands to its merchandising mix and getting more focused with its target marketing. They have built more than 100 small-format hardware stores which they call "Neighborhood Stores."

Customer service training is back in style at Sears and the focus really is back on the customer. In rural markets, Sears is getting closer to the customer with a concept called "Dealer Stores." These independently-owned stores are joint-ventures between Sears and local merchants.

I visited one of these dealer stores in Florida recently, and the owners-hometown folks-were expanding. They love the concept and apparently they are pleasing their customers as well. The average dealer store tops $1 million in sales. Think big, act small.

My guess is that Sears will occupy the number two spot in retail sales in the U.S. at the end of FY1996.

While Wal-Mart is a virtually impossible-to-catch leader in retail today, Sears can continue to put pressure on other retail chains and independents. One thing is certain, the giant is awake right now.

Northern Illinois Gas files rate plan proposal with Commerce Commission

Northern Illinois Gas filed a performance-based rate plan with the Illinois Commerce Commission (Ill. C. C.) for gas supply costs.

The filing is in response to a amendment to the Illinois Public Utilities Act, which provides for programs consisting of alternatives to traditional cost of service regulation.

Currently, natural gas supply costs are passed on directly to the customer without mark-up. Under the proposed program, Northern Illinois Gas will compare its total annual gas supply costs against a market-based benchmark, and any difference would be shared between Northern Illinois Gas and its customers.

"Historically, the price our customers have paid for gas supplies has been among the lowest in the nation," said Tom Fisher, chairman, president and CEO. "This program will help Northern Illinois Gas continue to compete effectively in an increasingly competitive energy market."

The company is requesting approval of its program by January 1, 1997. However, the Ill. C.C. has up to 11 months to decide the case.

Northern Illinois Gas, one of the nation's largest natural gas distribution utilities, serves more than 1.8 million customers in the northern third of the state, excluding the city of Chicago.

Domino's Pizza owner Tom Monrhan donates a live buffalo for the Domino's Farms Association petting zoo to Dan Shanahan, president of D.D.S. Pizza Enterprises, Inc. The buffalo was given to symbolize record sales of Domino's newest product, Buffalo Wings, by Lake County franchisee.

Petting Zoo receives buffalo gift from area Domino's

The Domino's Farms Association petting zoo is the beneficiary of record buffalo wings sales by a Lake County Domino's Pizza Franchise. Dan Shanahan, president of D.D.S. Pizza Enterprises, Inc., announced the donation of a live buffalo to the petting zoo in celebration of selling 260,988 buffalo wings in his five Lake County Domino's Pizza stores.

"D.D.S. Pizza Enterprises is a strong supporter of community activities and we believe in giving something back to the community," according to Shanahan. "We set a goal to sell a quarter-million buffalo wings. Thanks to the help of our customers, store managers and employees, we were able to exceed our goal. Donating a buffalo to a petting zoo where it can be enjoyed by thousands of children for years to come is just a small way to say 'thanks' to our customers and employees." Shanahan has stores in Beach Park, Deerfield, Libertyville, Mundelein and Zion with a new store slated to open soon in Wauconda.

Shanahan is no stranger when it comes to providing fund raising assistance. In the past year, several Lake County schools enjoyed the support of Shanahan's stores. An 11 year Domino's Pizza veteran, Shanahan has been a franchisee since 1990. Beginning with his first store, he's personally spearheaded the organization's fund raising efforts. He was awarded Domino's Pizza's coveted "Gold Franny," the highest award available to a franchisee.

Cracker Barrel gives grant to for environmental work

The Cracker Barrel Old Country Store Foundation is committed to treating the environment with as much respect as each guest that visits a Cracker Barrel Old Country Store.

The Foundation has awarded the Cooperative Extension Service, (CES), based near the Gurnee Cracker Barrel, a Cracker Barrel Environmental Projects Grant.

The grant helps fund volunteers for the Lake County Earth Flag Project. Volunteers from the CES, established by the University of Illinois, College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences assist schools in Lake County in meeting the Illinois School Code requiring study and instruction in environmental areas.

"We are proud to support area schools that have earned the privilege to fly the Earth Flag, recognizing their commitment to the environment," said Michael Hensley, general manager of the Gurnee Cracker Barrel.

"Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc. is actively committed to minimizing its effect on the environment through progressive recycling and waste reduction programs," added DeAnna Fry, Environmental Affairs Coordinator for Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc.

"In addition, the Foundation awards grants to organizations and projects in Cracker Barrel communities that place the same emphasis on respecting the environment."

Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc., a publicly held company, was founded in 1969 by Dan W. Evins in Lebanon, Tenn. The chain reported 1995 annual net sales figures at $783.1 million, an increase of 18 percent over 1994. Cracker Barrel (CrkrBrl) is listed on the NASDAQ exchange.

All Cracker Barrel Old Country Stores are open seven days a week with hours Sunday through Thursday, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Friday and Saturday, 6 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Abbott gains marketing approval for new AIDS drug in Europe

The European Commission, in Brussels, has granted final marketing authorization for Abbott Laboratories' protease inhibitor Norvir® (ritonavir) for treatment of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infections and AIDS.

In May, the Committee for Proprietary Medicinal Products (CPMP) delivered a positive scientific opinion on the granting of a European marketing authorization for Norvir for use in combination with antiretroviral nucleoside analogues for the treatment of HIV-1 infected adult patients with advanced or progressive immunodeficiency. Norvir was the first HIV protease inhibitor to receive scientific approval from the CPMP.

"The data we have seen to date with Norvir offer new hope to AIDS patients," said Romeo T. Bachand, M.D., Ph.D., divisional vice president of medical and scientific affairs for Abbott's international division. "Norvir is an important new tool which will help change the way this disease is treated."

Clinical trials of Norvir showed the drug to decrease the risk of disease progression and mortality in patients with HIV infection and AIDS. Clinical trials have also demonstrated that the drug has substantial anti viral activity, decreasing the amount of HIV virus measurable in the blood as well as increasing CD4 cells, a type of white blood cell important in protecting against

Protease inhibitors are a new class of drug with a mechanism of action that is different from previously available antiretroviral treatments for HIV infection and AIDS. Protease inhibitors, such as Norvir, block the action of HIV protease, an enzyme involved in the final development of the virus. By blocking protease activity, protease inhibitors prevent production of infectious viral particles, therefore slowing HIV progression.

Norvir is approved in the U.S., Canada, Switzerland, Brazil, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Colombia, Guatemala and Peru. Submissions in other countries around the world are pending. Additional submissions will be filed as individual country regulatory requirements are completed.

Abbott has a long-standing scientific commitment to the creation of health care technologies that aid in the fight against HIV and related conditions. In addition to Norvir, Abbott offers a comprehensive line of HIV screening and diagnostic tests; clarithromycin, an anti-infective which has proven effective in both the prevention and treatment of MAC (mycobacterium avium complex), an infection that is a major cause of death in people with HIV; and Advera®, a nutritional product formulated specifically to meet the unique dietary needs brought on by AIDS and HIV. Abbott committed more than $1 billion (U.S.) to research and development in 1995, with a significant portion dedicated to HIV/AIDS research.

Abbott Laboratories is a global, diversified health care company devoted to the discovery, development, manufacture and marketing of pharmaceutical, diagnostic, nutritional and hospital products. Headquartered in the United States, the company employs 50,000 people and markets its products in more than 130 countries. In 1995, the company's sales and net earnings were $10 billion and $1.7 billion, respectively, with earnings per share of $2.12.

Home & Garden

Design gaining prominence in planning decks

Homeowners are not just putting a square deck on the back of their houses anymore. Today, deck add-ons are following the architectural styling of the house. People are paying attention to how the deck works as a component of the entire landscape.

Decks have become an extension of the living space. They work with the interior of the home to create more dining, lounging or entertaining space. They carry the interior decorating theme outside, and fit into the architectural design of the house itself.

People are getting away from just putting down the deck and adding a railing so people won't fall off the deck. They're taking into consideration what style of handrail should be used for the style of the house, for example, and other ways to integrate the deck style into the architecture of the house.

Homeowners are thinking of decks much as they thought of porches years ago—as an architectural extension of the house.

Porches, which used to be our outdoor living space, always were an integral part of the way the house looked since they generally were designed as part of the house before construction.

Today, decks have become the outdoor living space and people are beginning to see the need to design the deck as part of the house.

This increased consciousness of design does not, however, require the added expense of hiring talented craftsmen to create custom spindles and posts as "period pieces" for your deck.

Manufacturers like Weyerhaeuser LifeWood have produced an extensive line of outdoor millwork products from pressure-treated lumber. Spindles match newel posts and handrails, and lattice panels have custom design.

And not only can you create that

"designed look," the millwork products also are designed to fit quickly and easily together via notches and grooves.

Even though creative decks don't cost a lot more, they do require a new outlook during the design stages. It might be termed "exterior design."

Homeowners should plan their decks and landscaping just as carefully as they would an addition to their house. Homeowners should think of their landscaping area as one or more outdoor rooms, taking into consideration how they'll want to use that space and how they can create an intimate environment there.

There should be space for plants and outdoor furniture, space for entertaining, dining, or whatever other activities the family enjoys.

Attention late bloomers.

It's time for the fall color of garden mums. These hardy bloomers are one of the easiest to grow. And they display enough color to make those turning tree leaves envious. The garden mum has been called "America's Most Popular Perennial" — and with good reason. With the proper care and a bit of help from Mother Nature, garden mums have the potential to bloom again and again every autumn.

So if you need a good excuse to get outdoors this fall, grab an armload of our spectacular garden mums, available now at Leider's Garden Greenery.

—Ask Don Garlits— Setting automatic choke richer than factory specs may improve stalling

Q. I have a 1985 Dodge with what they call a slant six engine. The car was in visibly good condition and had less than 75,000 miles when I bought it last December. I immediately had the engine examined thoroughly and replaced the rotor, distributor cap, spark plugs, ignition wires, pcv valve, fuel filter and air filter. Mostly on damp days, the car keeps stalling when I first start. I usually have to let the engine idle for 10 to 15 minutes before the problem resolves itself.

On those occasions when I do take off before it is idling properly, I usually pay the price by stalling at a stop sign, where I then have to pull over and wait it out. The only thing I have tried was to spray the entire carburetor area with a spray cleaner which did not help. My regular mechanic, whom I have a lot of faith in, told me this problem is just in the nature of such an old car and there's little that can be done. Do you think this could be related to the automatic choke? If not, what it could be? When the car is running, it runs exceptionally well, though it has always been a little sluggish.—Norman H.

A. The factory, in an attempt to squeeze all of the mileage possible out of the slant six, tuned it very lean. During warm up, consequently, you are having this fuel delivery problem. Set the automatic choke a little richer than the factory specifications and you should see improvement, assuming there are no other mechanical problems. Of course, your mileage will drop off a little.

Q. I have a 1990 Chrysler LeBaron coupe with a 2.5 liter engine. I have been through about half a dozen "MAP" sensors. The dealers and gas station mechanics are baffled. Could the use of fuel injection cleaner have anything to do with this?—Don S.

A. Quite possible. There are some quality fuel supplements and injector cleaners that will not "cloud" these very important sensors. These sensors are the lifeline of today's fuel-injected cars. Look for a product that is safe to use—that is, that promises not to harm sensors or fuel-injected equipment. There are product brands that are safe for these situations. I am not aware of any ongoing problem with MOPAR's parts in this area.

Q. I own a 1987 Chevrolet Caprice with a 305 V-8, not fuel injected. It has 68,000 miles on it. My problem is that, when the car is idling, a vibration from the engine is transmitted through the car to the seats, which is very annoying, though it disappears on acceleration. I use 93 octane fuel.

The normal tune-up doesn't help unless the idling speed is increased dramatically.

I really enjoy driving this full-size car, but the V-8 consumes a lot of gas, averaging about 16 miles per gallon. I hear that GM has a new "Quad-4" engine that delivers upwards of 180 horsepower. Why can't they put these fuel-efficient four cylinders in large cars so we can get better economy without sacrificing size and comfort?—Joe P.

A. It isn't feasible to install the late model engine into the larger, earlier chassis. It would take far too many modifications. As for the mileage, you will have to be content with the 16 mpg. A smaller carburetor would help and, according to your description of the idle, a new carburetor may be in order.

However, an independent garage will probably have to make the conversion since the factory dealerships don't usually do this sort of thing; they seem to prefer to replace stock parts according to the book.

While the smaller engines carry a lot of horsepower, I believe these full-size cars require even more, since they are usually used to carry more people and heavier loads.

When you add in all of the accessories—especially in a mountainous region—it is unlikely that 180 or so horsepower will be sufficient.

Most motorists do not check their exhaust system unless their car is offending others with deafening noise or belching black smoke.

An exhaust system is more than just the muffler; it's a series of pipes connected to the muffler that run under the car to control noise and funnel exhaust fumes away from the vehicle. Other main components include exhaust pipes (which connect to exhaust manifolds), tailpipes, installation hardware and catalytic converters.

Exhaust systems are particularly vulnerable to wear and tear, so inspections are important.

Snow, ice, flying stones and even rough roads can damage your exhaust system. What's more a tiny hole can allow enough exhaust fumes to seep into the car, causing drowsiness and headaches. Checking an exhaust system for wear and tear should be done three to four times a year at changes of seasons. Experts recommend:

- looking for white, powdery deposits on pipe joints and connections to the manifold. This usually means that a gasket is leaking or that the bolts holding the joint together are loose.
- starting the engine, then watching and listening to the exhaust-pipe joint. If you see exhaust puffing through the joint or hear a popping sound, the gasket may need replacing or bolts may need tightening.

- looking from beneath the car at every part of the exhaust system for cracks, holes, extreme rusting and general damage.

- tapping each part of the exhaust system, except the catalytic converter, with a wrench. A roadworthy part will emit a ringing noise, while a worn or damaged one will produce a dull thud.

- checking to see if hanger assemblies are intact. Broken assemblies will cause an otherwise sound pipe or muffler to bang against another part of the car and become damaged.

How long should an exhaust system last? Most of the newer cars are equipped with exhaust systems made of stainless-steel parts, so they last longer—anywhere from five to eight years. If a system is not made of stainless steel it lasts about two to three years.

The life of an exhaust system has a lot to do with what kind of driving you do. Moisture is the key. If you drive long distances, your system is more apt to stay dry, due to the heat. If you do a lot of stop-and-go driving, or if your car sits still for long periods at a time, there's more of a chance for moisture to collect and corrosion to start.

Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.

PUBLIC NOTICE VILLAGE OF GRAYSLAKE BID NOTICE

SEPTEMBER 6, 1996

1. Time and place of Opening Bids. Sealed proposals for the WORK described herein will be received at the office of the Village Manager, Village of Grayslake, Lake County, Illinois, until 2:00 o'clock p.m., September 27, 1996, and publicly opened and publicly read at that time. No bids will be accepted subsequent to the time indicated above.

2. Description of work. The proposed WORK is officially known as Contract Snow and Ice Removal, 1996/97 Winter Season, and is further described as furnishing an equipment set, consisting of a truck equipped with plow and spreader, and an operator, to remove snow and ice from one of seven specific snow and ice routes, four of which are maintained by Village forces, or to aid in the removal of snow and ice from other Village locations in conformance with other provisions contained within the proposal. One additional equipment set shall also be available on call to supplement Village forces when requested. In addition to three snow and ice routes being contracted out, a separate contract will be let for snow and ice removal from the Grayslake Metra parking lots and all municipal parking lots.

3. Not less than the prevailing rate of wages as found by the Village of Grayslake or the Department of Labor or determined by the Court of Review shall be paid to all laborers, workmen, and mechanics performing work under this contract. The specified prevailing wage rates are attached and made a part of the specifications.

4. Instructions to Bidders.

a) Any prospective bidder who has not contracted with the Village for snow and ice control in the previous year must fill out a prequalification packet, which shall be due on September 20, 1996.

b) Proposals transmitted electronically by fax or other similar means will not be accepted.

c) Bidders' questions on the intent or meaning of the bid documents shall be in writing submitted to the Village of Grayslake, 10 South Seymour, Grayslake, IL 60030. The Village of Grayslake will respond in writing with the question and response submitted to all bidders as an addendum and made publicly available for inspection at the Village Hall.

5. Rejection of Bids. The VILLAGE reserves the right to reject any or all bids, waive all technicalities, error, and omissions, erasures, alterations, and additions not called for, and to make an award which, in its opinion, is in the best interest of the Village.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

Please help me out with a problem I am faced with. I am a high school graduating senior and in the process of writing a resume and filling out employment applications. I have been asked for references but since I have no work history in my past I am at a loss for what to use as far as references. Some of these applications are asking for as many as 4 references. What do you suggest? Thanks for your time. T.G.-Deerfield Dear T.G.

It may appear to be a rather difficult task to come up with references if there is no prior work history, however, at this point concentrate on character references. You must likely find that you have a few choice individuals who will attest to your character being sound. Here are a list of a few:

1. High School Guidance Counselor
2. Teachers
3. Clergymen
4. Friends of family who have known you for many years.

You may remember that you mowed lawns for a specific family who would be willing to give you a reference on how responsible or meticulous you are about your work. There may have been a family you did babysitting for quite some time ago who may be willing to tell an employer how reliable and dependable you were. Whom ever it is that you intend to use as a reference, the most important thing to remember is to contact any person that you plan to use. You don't want to have these people caught off guard by having them receive a call asking about someone they may not remember at that instance. How do you go about contacting them to ask them for this. You may want to contact your high school Guidance Counselor by telephone and ask if he/she would help you by writing a letter of recommendation for you to use with potential employers. Offer to come by and pick it up to expedite the situation. Contact teachers in the same respect. If unable to reach them during the summer months due to school being out of session, contact your administration office. Most often, they know where to get in touch over the summer months and perhaps they would leave your telephone number for the teachers to call you back.

Contacting clergy speaks for itself, and friends of the family...well, if you contact them by telephone or go to visit, all you have to do is ask! While I am in the market for employment, would you at all mind if I were to use you as a character reference? That way...no surprises! Good Luck to you!

PET OF THE WEEK

Carly is a female, chow/shepherd mix. This unusually pretty girl has a burnished gold coat with black and cream highlights, perk ears and a fringed tail. Carly's soft luxurious coat is irresistible and so is her charming personality. Carly is in the prime of her life, approximately seven years old. A sturdy built mid-size, Carly knows how to sit and has had some training. Very alert, she will make an excellent and protective companion, without aggression. Carly is loving and so affectionate. She thrives on attention and is people oriented. If you are looking for a bright, attractive, well behaved dog with outstanding personality traits, please come and see our pretty girl, Carly, in Cage 5.

All dogs benefit from basic housebreaking and obedience training which establishes a positive bond. Crating is recommended when the owner is away for the first year, if needed.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

HOPKINS 3

The Hopkins 3 is an extraordinary floor design that will provide the discerning family with all the necessities and amenities it desires. Spread over three levels, the Hopkins 3 affords over 4,000 square feet of modern architectural convenience.

The unique layout begins with the basement level. A three-car garage is available to house all the family vehicles and a big recreation room is a spot designed for lots of activity. The 204 square foot shop, with separate entrance, is big enough for any project. A full bathroom services this level and a custom elevator stands ready for a comfortable ride to the upper floors.

The main floor is an exceptional example of the wise use of space combined for comfort, practicality and beauty. Here you can entertain with confidence in large, open rooms with plenty of windows for enjoying the view and ushering in the light. A wrap-around porch, with waist high railing, frames the front of the handsome Hopkins 3. Your guests will admire the generous vaulted entry as you show them into the adjoining octagonal living room. Here, savor before dinner conversation in front of the propane fireplace. The dining room is placed between the kitchen and living room. The spacious U-shaped kitchen features an island cooktop, double ovens, appliance garage, walk-in pantry and a cozy breakfast nook. A big family room is situated nearby and opens onto a deck where a sunny day can be fully appreciated. A good-sized home office, with plenty of storage, is at the front of the house.

For a study kit of the HOPKINS 3 (404-30), send $10.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

Here, savor before dinner conversation in front of the propane fireplace. The dining room is placed between the kitchen and living room. The spacious U-shaped kitchen features an island cooktop, double ovens, appliance garage, walk-in pantry and a cozy breakfast nook. A big family room is situated nearby and opens onto a deck where a sunny day can be fully appreciated. A good-sized home office, with plenty of storage, is at the front of the house.

The upper level of the Hopkins 3 contains the elegant sleeping quarters. The huge master suite features a coffered vault above the bed area, a fireplace and a walk-in closet. The master suite also boasts a private bathroom with linen storage, twin basins, spa tub and an oversized shower. Bedroom two is octagonal in shape, with a vaulted ceiling. A full bathroom serves as a buffer between bedrooms 2 and 3.

Complete the top level, near the elevator, is a convenient utility room with built-in ironing board and table for folding clothes.

The Hopkins 3 is an extraordinary floor design that will provide the discerning family with all the necessities and amenities it desires. Spread over three levels, the Hopkins 3 affords over 4,000 square feet of modern architectural convenience.

The unique layout begins with the basement level. A three-car garage is available to house all the family vehicles and a big recreation room is a spot designed for lots of activity. The 204 square foot shop, with separate entrance, is big enough for any project. A full bathroom services this level and a custom elevator stands ready for a comfortable ride to the upper floors.

The main floor is an exceptional example of the wise use of space combined for comfort, practicality and beauty. Here you can entertain with confidence in large, open rooms with plenty of windows for enjoying the view and ushering in the light. A wrap-around porch, with waist high railing, frames the front of the handsome Hopkins 3. Your guests will admire the generous vaulted entry as you show them into the adjoining octagonal living room. Warning! Warning! School Bus Safety Alert!

BE ON THE LOOK OUR..

School's back in session and in the excitement of the new school year, many school-age children, especially the young ones, may forget to look both ways when crossing the street or exiting the school bus.

That leaves it up to you as a driver, to be extra careful around schoolyards, neighborhood play areas, and departing school buses.

So remember..when you see yellow, be sure to see red - as in red alert. Let's all slow down and give our children the chance they deserve.

Drive Safely! School is Open!
